Dr. Bartels

To President R. B. von KleinSmid, a new fellow student but already an old friend, we dedicate this book.

The President's Message

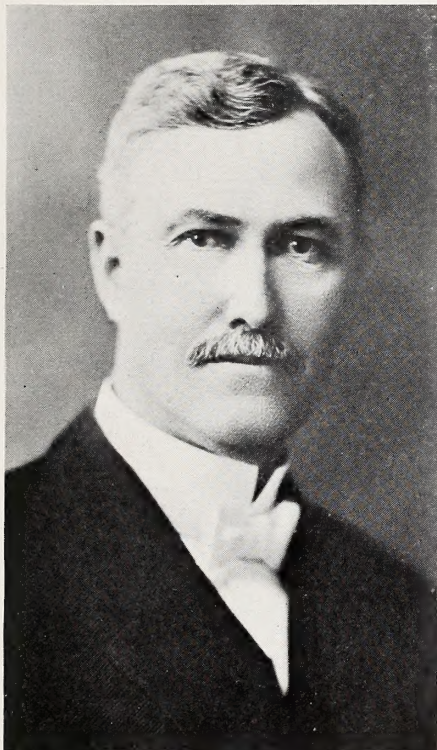

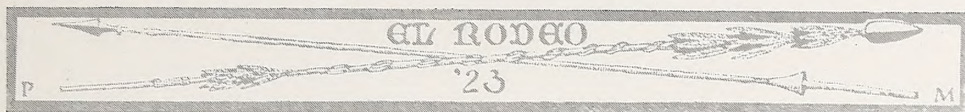

NO PLEASANTER privilege could be mine than to extend this word of greeting to the student body of the University of Southern California,—greeting in the bond of student body membership, quite different from any other relationship which we shall ever sustain in life. It is a wonderful thing to be a part of a great institution of learning, to imbibe her spirit and to reflect her ideals. The contribution which she makes toward the characters we bear could come from no other source in so generous a measure. Such gifts as she bestows call for steadfast loyalty and unselfish service to all her interests. It is ours to make her proud of her children and, in continued dedication, to make it possible for her to extend her influence to untold thousands who shall come after us. In appreciation of what she is, and in anticipation of what she is to become through the efforts of a unified, enthusiastic and loyal student body, I am

Faithfully yours,

R. Bron Meinert

President.

Dr. Bovard's Message

To the Class of 1923, Greetings:

My retiring from the Presidency of the University of Southern California must not be construed as having ceased to have an interest in the success of the work, but on the other hand I would like to have my action interpreted as an intensive desire to see the University go forward to the highest possible success. Being relieved from the responsibility of directing affairs, it gives me an opportunity to give more attention to my health and to do some reading I have been anxious to do for a goodly number of years. My relation as President Emeritus does not mean that I have quit work. I hope to live a goodly number of years and to be of special assistance to the University in ways that may be pointed out by the President.

The eighteen years of Presidency enabled me to meet a great many young people who are now doing things in the world, and I trust that my influence has been for good. I shall always be interested in the Alumni of the University, and indeed, in all of the students who have attended this institution. I trust that every student and member of the faculty will loyally support the new Administration in all plans that may be presented.

Assuring the Class of 1923 of my kindly interest, I am,

Yours sincerely,

George F. Bovard

An Appreciation of Dr. Bovard

The following appreciation is indicative not only of the faculty opinion, but also of that of the University of Southern California student body:

George Finley Bovard, actuated by high and unselfish motives of true Christian leadership, accepted the responsibility of chief administrator of the University of Southern California at a time when, to human view, its future seemed doubtful.

As President he has steadfastly labored for the advancement of liberal education under Christian auspices, and his unremitting labors have been crowned with signal success. During his incumbency the University of Southern California has developed into the leading institution of higher learning in the great Southwest and one of the foremost universities maintained by the Methodist Episcopal Church in America.

We, the University Faculty, reluctant to see President Bovard relinquish his active leadership to a successor, yet rejoicing to know that his own earnest wish to be relieved of the burdens of administration has been granted and that he will still be associated with us in the interests of the University, desire to express to him who has so long been our chief, some token of the high esteem and of the profound respect—deepened into unfeigned affection—in which he is held by us all.

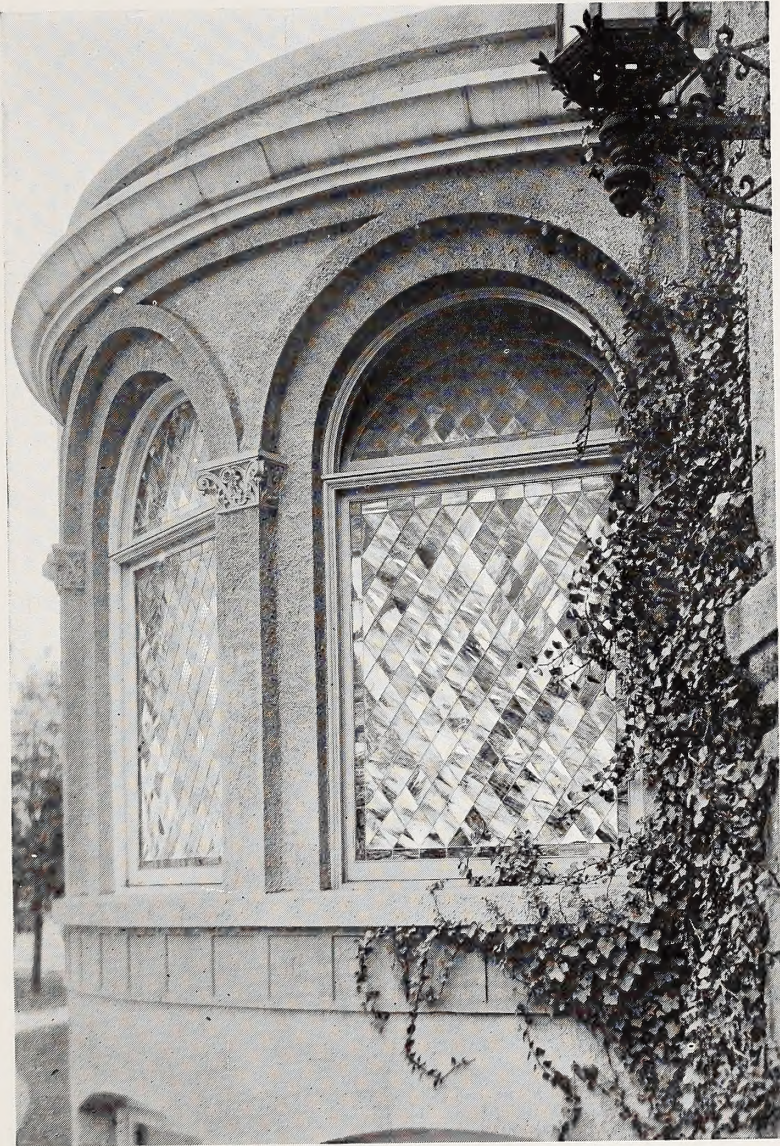

Endowed with clear vision and rare powers of administration, he has with unwavering devotion faithfully striven for the highest welfare of the great institution in which his life work has centered. We salute George Finley Bovard as Southern California's First Educator, praying that to him and his life companion many years of happy service may yet be granted.

(Signed) Faculty Committee,

By Rockwell D. Hunt, Chairman.

Emory S. Bogardus, Secretary.

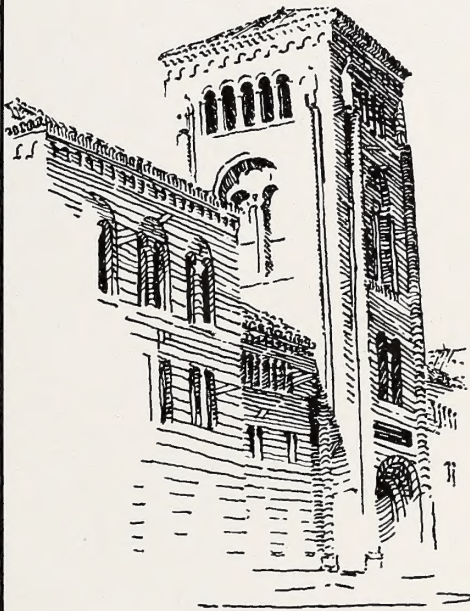

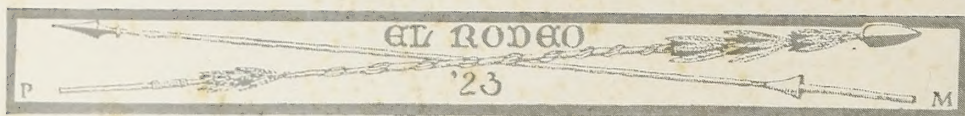

*“And life means more, a boundless store,
Since we have trod thy ways.”*

THE PERSONALIST

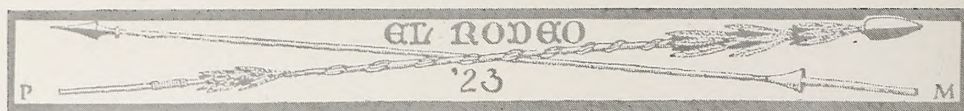

Under the leadership of Dr. Ralph Tyler Flewelling, its editor and founder, THE PERSONALIST, a quarterly publication of the Department of Philosophy, has attracted widespread attention throughout the intellectual populace of America during its three years of existence. Feeling the need of expression for Theistic Philosophy in America Dr. Flewelling conceived this organ of thought, which is the only magazine of such a nature except the Roman Catholic Review of Europe.

In each issue there are voluntary contributions from well known writers and professors in the United States, as well as many helpful hints from the editor which produce much food for thought. Many worthy tributes have been paid this quarterly by foremost critics of the country. Miss McCormick, assistant editor of the Lyric, writes, "I consider the Personalist of the highest literary standard." Another critic states, "It is removing the hub of Philosophy from Boston to Los Angeles." Ex-President Huntington of Boston University says, "It is a distinct achievement and credit to the intellectual life of the Pacific Coast."

JOURNAL OF APPLIED SOCIOLOGY

For five years the Department of Sociology, University of Southern California, supplied the workers in this field of endeavor with choice articles pertaining to all social problems through the Sociological Monographs, a periodical publication edited by Dr. Emory S. Bogardus. In September, 1921, this publication was enlarged upon and combined into the present Journal of Applied Sociology, issued bi-monthly. It contains five main divisions, sociological monographs, editorial notes, news notes, book notes and Round Table notes or epigrams from leading sociologists. The contributors to the magazine are the faculty of U. S. C., leading sociologists in the United States and advance students in the departments. The Journal discusses the current social problems in the country as well as local. It has a wide circulation and it likewise sets a particularly high standard. All the leading universities, colleges, and public libraries in the country are subscribers to this organ of social thought. The associate editors to Dr. Bogardus are William S. Smith, Clarence E. Rainwater, and Melvin J. Vincent.

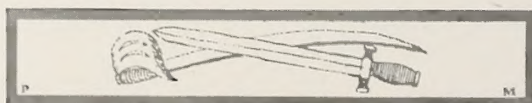

COLLEGE OF COMMERCE JOURNAL

This year marked the second milestone passed by the College of Commerce Journal, the official organ of the new college in U. S. C. Primarily it is a monthly publication edited and published by the College of Commerce but contributed to by leading business men in California and members of the faculty. Due to limited finances the dates of publication have been irregular. It has been recognized by the business men of Los Angeles as a worthy magazine and in turn has received hearty support and cooperation from them. All phases of the business world and problems that particularly confront Southern California are discussed within its pages. Assistant Director Emory Olson, of the College of Commerce is faculty advisor while L. Kling Stoddart and Lew Wiles are editor-in-chief and managing editor respectively.

THE HANDBOOK

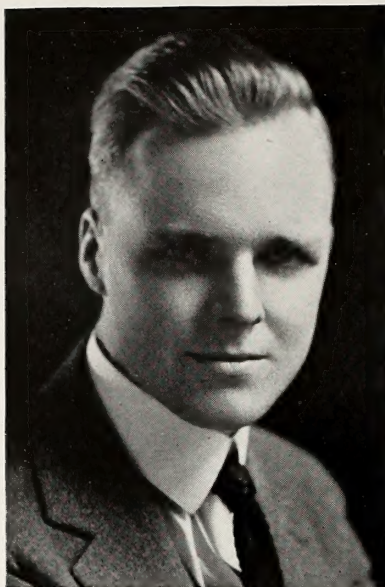

The Students Handbook, the dignified name for the "Freshman Bible," is issued yearly by the Young Men's and Women's Christian Associations for the benefit of new students in the university. It contains a brief comprehensive digest of the university's traditions, honor societies, fraternities, organizations, and athletic records from checkers to football.

It is the constant companion of the incoming freshman each year for "those first hard weeks." Through the efforts of William Barber, its editor this year, and Marquis Busby, this publication was unusually helpful and attractive.

DEATHING

ALAN NICHOLS, DEBATING COACH

THE SEASON

In keeping with the expansion of the University of Southern California in all other fields of activity was the development of a greater forensic program for the year 1921-1922. Seventeen inter-collegiate debates, the majority of which were won by U. S. C., were held. A tour during which eight universities in seven states were debated was made with the Trojans almost making a clean sweep. The debating activities of the University were finally unified, the College of Law having practically abandoned the policy of maintaining a separate schedule.

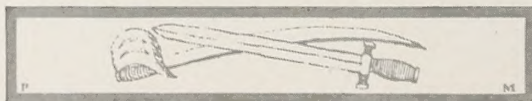

THE COACHES

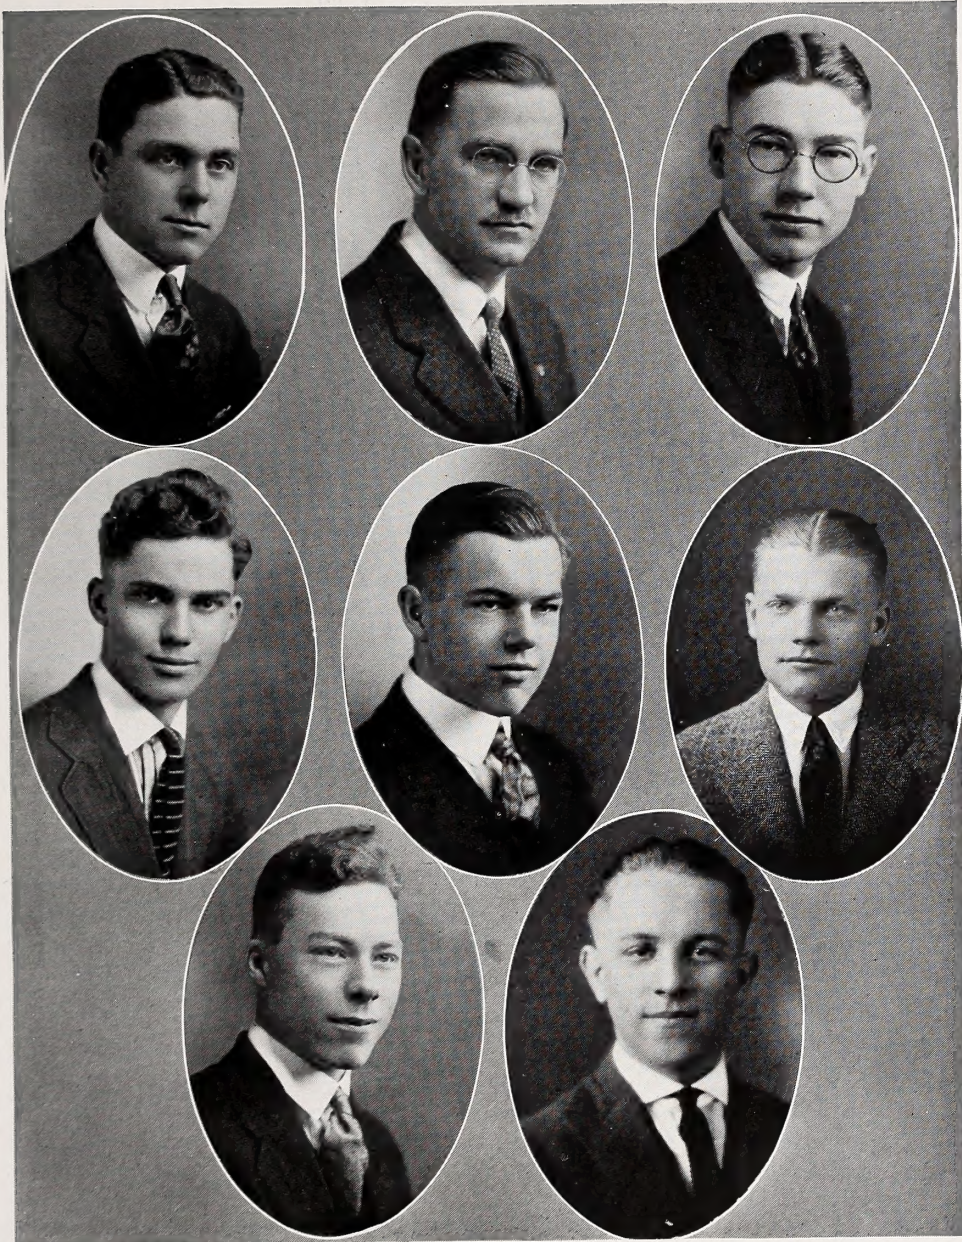

Mr. Alan Nichols of the Department of Public Speaking had active charge of the year's debating as coach. He is a graduate of the University of Iowa and of the Law Department of the University of Colorado.

Prof. Anthony Blanks, who was responsible for the development of the winning teams of the last few years, was invaluable as a member of the coaching staff because of his broad experience as a debating coach.

THE MANAGER

Roland W. Maxwell was responsible for the management of the year's forensic activities. He proved his ability at managing by arranging a very satisfactory schedule, and was a clever debater as well.

THE BOWEN CUP CONTEST

The first stimulus for public speaking activity was provided in the contest for the six trophies purchased with the income from the Bowen Foundation for Debating Prizes created by Judge William Bowen. The general subject for the contest was "Disarmament." Thirty-five men competed in the preliminary. Of these, ten were selected to compete in the final contest which was held before the assembly on November 10. This final contest took the form of an extemporaneous debate. Two hours before the time set for the final contest, the following question was announced: Resolved, that the United States should cease all further additions to its armament for a period of ten years. After two hours preparation, a debate on this question between two groups of five men was held and the six best speakers awarded the trophies. The winners were Ned Lewis, Harry Amstutz, Merle McGinnis, Clifford Davis, Hugh Flaherty, and Royal Riddle.

THE HAMBURGER CONTEST

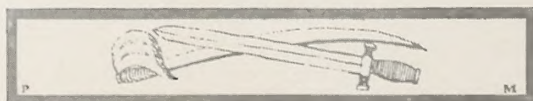

The Hamburger Company offered a silver trophy as the prize for a local speaking contest on the subject: "The Opportunities of the College Man In Business." Roland Maxwell, Merle McGinnis, Lowell Trautman, Clifford Davis and William Barber were selected in the preliminary from the twenty-five entrants to compete for the cup in a final contest. Merle McGinnis, the winner, represented the University of Southern California in the inter-collegiate contest between the seven Southern California colleges held February 10. In this contest he was awarded first place and received another trophy, also the gift of Hamburger's.

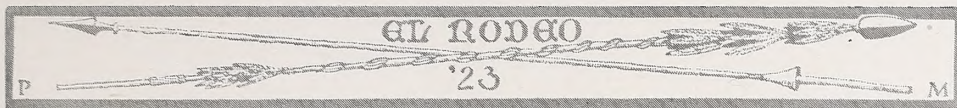

THE SQUAD

On December 1, a squad of fifteen men was selected from the thirty aspirants for positions on the debating team. All these men worked during the entire season, and although all did not represent the University on teams, each man was of real assistance in the preparation of the debates. The squad included the following: Ned Lewis, William Barber, Ward Hill, Clifford Davis, Clarence Wright, Roland Maxwell, Warren Miller, Merle McGinnis, Roy Mason, Bernard Brennan, Herbert Huebner, Louis D'Elia, Julian Hollman, Lowell Trautman and Robert Carlquist.

U. S. C. O, REDLANDS 3.

The opening debate of the season was held at Los Angeles February 21, when the Trojan speakers met the University of Redlands upon the question, "Resolved that the open shop agreement, between employer and employee, without collective wage contracts, should prevail in American industries." Julian Hollman and Warren Miller, two freshmen, and William Barber, a sophomore, represented U. S. C. They were opposed by a veteran team composed of two juniors and a senior. The contest was marked by the superiority of the Trojan delivery and the extraordinary extemporaneous work of Douglas McPhee of Redlands. The greater maturity and resourcefulness of the visiting trio gave them a well-merited unanimous decision.

U. S. C. 3, POMONA 0.

Hollman, Miller and Barber won their first victory when they defeated Pomona College by a unanimous decision in the annual triangular debate which included Occidental. Superior delivery, combined with some excellent platform debating made possible by the third contest on the same side of the question, and supported by sound argument proved enough to defeat the Sage-hens. The debate exhibited some of the snappiest collisions of argument so far in the season.

U. S. C. 2, OCCIDENTAL 1

Ned Lewis, Clarence Wright, and Bernard Brennan made possible the first victory for U. S. C. in the triangular debate in four years when they defeated the Occidental squad on foreign floor two decisions to one. The Tiger team had already debated the question once, and they were grooming themselves for the trip into the east where, among other institutions, they were to meet Princeton University. Several hundred Occidental students packed the hall; the rivalry was keen; and the contest was probably the most harshly fought of the entire season. This was the first debate for any of the Trojan speakers, and their victory under such adverse conditions deserves especial notice.

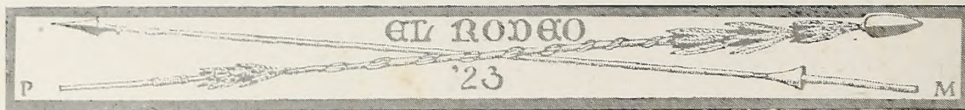

U. S. C. 3, CALTEK 0.

The Trojan opened its season on the question, "Resolved that a court of industrial relations for the judicial settlement of labor disputes should be adopted in the United States" when Ward Hill and Louis D'Elia won a unanimous decision against the California Institute of Technology at Pasadena on March 9. Excellent rebuttals, particularly on the part of D'Elia who for seven minutes refuted extemporaneously the alternative plan of a minimum wage law which was sprung as a surprise, were the chief contributing factors in the success.

U. S. C. 3, CALTEK 0.

Caltex fared no better when they came over to debate the other side of the question the next evening. Merle McGinnis and Roland Maxwell, upholding the negative, added three more decisions to the list. This question was upheld by the older Trojan speakers and their maturity began to supply votes which the younger men on the open shop question had lost.

U. S. C. 1, Washington 2

The Trojan debaters lost their second contest of the trip when they dropped a two-to-one decision to Washington University of St. Louis on March 30. The audience was not large and the meet was not as close and as hard fought as others on the trip; but the opposing men were veteran speakers and their astuteness in twisting the issues to suit their case probably was the deciding factor in giving them the decision.

U. S. C. 3, Brigham Young 0

After a five-day rest, McGinnis and Maxwell changed to the affirmative side of the question and met Brigham Young University at Provo, Utah. The Mormon aggregation claimed the championship of the State, having defeated both the University of Utah and Utah Aggies; and a crowd of 1,000 persons came out to watch them contest the Trojans. But the Southern California men, entering their seventh consecutive contest, were far the steadier of the two teams, and gained a unanimous decision from three justices of the Supreme Court of Utah.

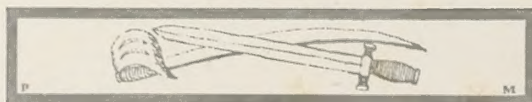

U. S. C. 3, Nevada 0

In the final contest of the trip, the Trojans met, and won a unanimous decision over, the University of Nevada at Reno. The Sagehen orators had done a tremendous amount of work upon the question, but they lacked entirely the smooth delivery necessary to make it count with the audience. They failed to speak up to the U. S. C. standard and could not argue with any success. Governor Campbell of Nevada entertained the Trojan speakers after the contest.

The trip east terminated with five victories and two defeats, which is an excellent record considering that the men were working before foreign audiences and judges. The two contests lost were dropped only by close decisions of two to one.

U. S. C. 3, Denver 0

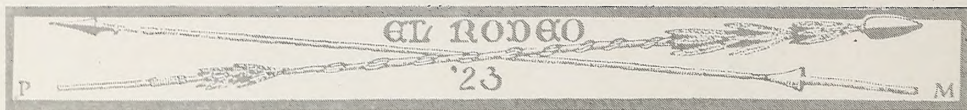

While Maxwell and McGinnis were touring the East, other teams of the squad were carrying on at home. In arguing the negative of the open shop question, Coach Nichols moved Hollman and Barber over with Lewis to meet the University of Denver in the big intersectional debate of the year, which resulted in a unanimous decision for the Trojan speakers. The University of Southern California showed at its best in this contest, with a polished delivery, faultless constructive argument, and a versatile handling of the exigencies of the debate. The judges were Marco H. Hellman, Justice Victor E. Shaw, and Benjamin H. Waite.

ORAMA

"THE GREAT GALEOTO"

"The Great Galeoto," by Jose Echegaray, produced in Bovard Auditorium on November 17, was of twofold importance. It opened the way for the presentation of better dramas at U. S. C. and designated Lance and Lute, its producer, as an active organization.

The production was an experiment, the entire drama being touched up to give it a contemporary disguise. The scene was transferred from Spain to the United States; the characters were presumably Americans with Castilian names. The most radical changes were in the dialogue. All soliloquys and asides were eliminated or rewritten, thus greatly shortening the play. Consequently only the kernel bits of action remained, and the actors could no more warm to the dynamic dramatic climaxes than they could before a fire which had not been kindled.

However, the production was a success; the actors were conscientious, the scenery and lighting effects were beautiful (the scenery consisting of gray and gold draperies upon which colored lights were directed), the audience was pleased, and it was good to witness a U. S. C. performance in a U. S. C. auditorium. The tragic denouement, in which the young wife of the story is turned out of her home by her dying husband, with his nephew, whom idle talk and unfortunate situations have indicated she loves, was admirably presented. It was the best acted part of the drama.

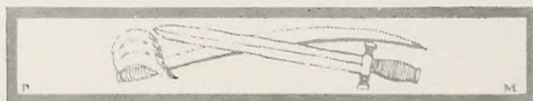

Those who engaged in the presentation were the following: Grant Kuhns as Julian, the husband; Ruth Seaver as Teodoro, his wife; C. Ray Noll as Ernest, Julian's nephew; Bertha Lloyd as Mercedes; Jasper Lacy as Severo; S. D. Seamans as Pepito; John Oliver as Rueda; and Lucy Levering as the servant.

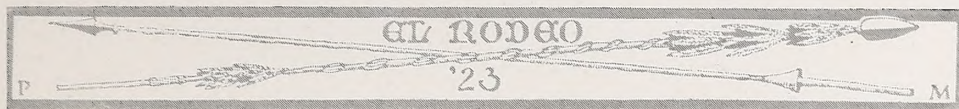

The production was directed by Mildred I. Voorhees of the College of Oratory.

As a curtain-raiser, "The Honorable Togo," a delightful one-act comedy by Harl MacInroy, was used. In it S. D. Seamans played Togo; Lucy Levering, Mabel Winfield; Joseph Ryan, George Winfield; and John Oliver, Henry Powell.

JUNIOR PLAY

"You Never Can Tell," the Junior Class play, was presented in the Bovard Auditorium on February 23. It is a comedy in four acts by George Bernard Shaw "based upon the world-old question of the relation between parents and children, with especial reference to and sympathy for the greater freedoms of the most modern type of education."

The play was presented very well by a cast of juniors. Dr. Gaw in his criticism said: "The performance maintained the highest junior play traditions of the University. For the combined excellence of subject-matter and adequacy of presentation, I can recall no play that reached so high a level since the production of 'The Servant in the House' in 1913."

In his opinion, Maxwell Chamberlin as William, the waiter; Berdine Jackman as Dolly Clandon, and Harold Bridegroom, as Philip Clandon, of the cast made the most of their acting opportunities. Other members of the cast were Mary Meyersick as Mrs. Clandon, Elizabeth Wheat as Gloria Clandon, Robert Reynolds as Mr. Crampton, Robert Broadwell as Mr. McComas, Roland Maxwell as Mr. Bohun, Julien Summers as Valentine, Frances Cattell as the parlor maid, and Murray Leiffer as the assistant waiter.

COLLEGE OF ORATORY PLAYS

With the success of the two matinees presented by the College of Oratory this year, the little theatre movement was definitely launched on the U. S. C. campus. The programs were given in the Old College chapel, more familiarly called the "Touchstone Theatre," which has been equipped with a modern stage with both lighting and scenic facilities.

The first matinee was given on the afternoon of December 7, 1921. The program consisted of three one-act plays: a comedy, a drama, and a pantomime. Each one received favorable comment.

"He Said and She Said" was presented by Alice Ingram, Marquis Busby, Elizabeth Wheat and Inez McEwen.

"Addio" was given by S. D. Seamans, Mildred French, O. Henry King, and William Cushing.

"The Camel and the Vampire," the pantomime, was acted by Lucy Levering, Sara Maud Benham, Rachel Smith, Florence Brady, Ruth Goldsmith, Rhea Schlaack, Fay Kern, Phoebe Sischo, and Mary Meyersick.

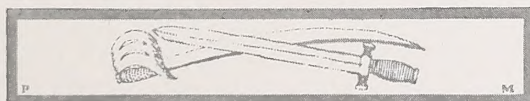

The second three-part program was presented by the College of Oratory the afternoon of March 16. The acting in the three plays was entirely commendable.

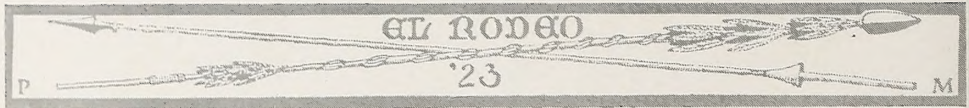

"You," a fantasy, was played by S. D. Seamans, C. Ray Noll, and Inez McEwen.

"Lonesomelike," a drama, was given by Merle McGinnis, Lucy Levering, Fay Kern, and O. Henry King.

"Helena's Husband," a satirical farce, was acted by Virginia Anderson, Edith Wilson, Sarah Taft Somers, Alice Ingram and Joyce Cheney.

The plays on both programs were directed by Florence Hubbard and Mildred Voorhees of the College of Oratory.

"THE LUCKY ONE"

Abilities of a well chosen cast were the conspicuous features which made "The Lucky One," given as the annual play of the College of Oratory in Bovard Auditorium on the evening of April 6, a successful production. The play is a comedy in three acts and was written by A. A. Milne, a prominent British playwright.

Briefly, it sets forth the story of two brothers one of which is termed "the lucky one" because of his seemingly irresponsible popularity and success. As the plot progresses, it is shown that all of his "luck" has been won by himself as a result of serious conscious effort. He is really more thoughtful than his brother.

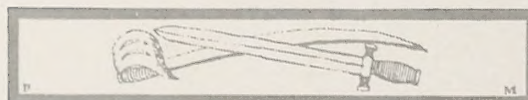

The play does not end with the marriage of the hero and heroine. However, the ending is not unhappy if the irony of the "lucky one's" situation is understood.

Carlyle Scott played Gerald Farrington, the favored son or "the lucky one." C. Ray Noll took the part of Bob Farrington, his brother. Sarah Taft Somers and John Leadingham represented respectively Lady Farrington and Sir James Farrington, their mother and father. Theresa Maloy acted the part of Pamela Carey, Gerald's fiancée. O. Henry King as Tommy Todd, Genevieve Moynahan as Letty Herbert, and S. D. Seamans as Wentworth were the guests of the Farringtons. Rhea Schlaack played Miss Farrington, Gerald's great aunt, and Altabelle Ross, Mason, the nurse.

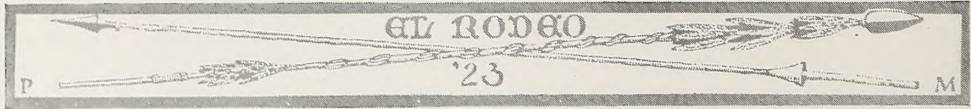

The play, which had never before been produced in Los Angeles, was directed by Miss Voorhees and Miss Hubbard, both of the College of Oratory.

JAN PADEREWSKI AND SILK-HAT DELEGATION VISIT

The Speakers

The University of Southern California has been honored during the past year in having for its university preachers men of national repute, men whom the student body heard with great interest. Following are the university preachers with a word from the messages which they brought:

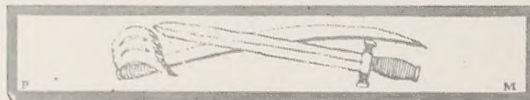

Dr. Dillon Bronson

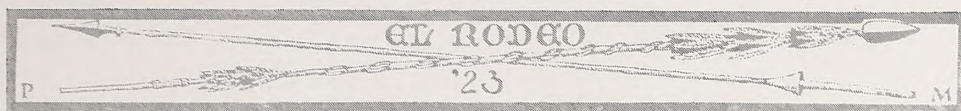

Sept. 29. Dr. Dillon Bronson of Boston. Topic—"Hop, Skip and Jump Around the World." "Two conclusions are bound to come from world travel. First, that gospel is the only solution to international problems. Silence or legislation cannot help. Second, that other countries are good to visit but America is the only land in which to live. 'So it's home again, home again—America for me.'"

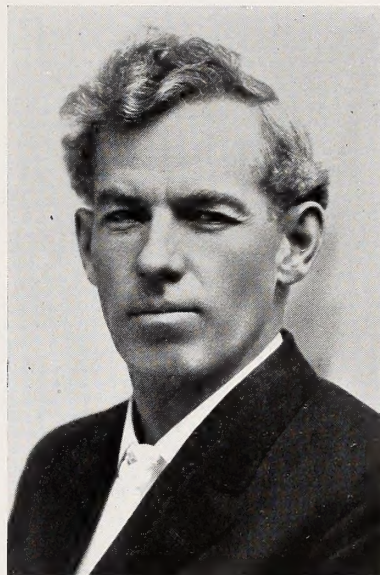

Dr. Robert W. Freeman

March 8-14. Dr. Freeman, pastor of the Pasadena Presbyterian Church. "This old world is not going to the dogs, as some people would have us believe. We are a moving, changing universe. It is developing toward rightness because back of it all is a directing motto of intelligence that we call God."

Jan. 3-6. J. Stitt Wilson. "The world is facing a crucial hour when constructive statesmanship is needed to avoid another war. It is a sick and war-cursed world; it is in the most critical, the most crucial, and possibly the most tragic hour of human history. Education must form character and such character that, like the touch of Christ's garments, its touch will stop suffering."

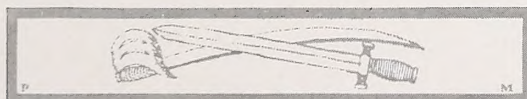

J. Stitt Wilson

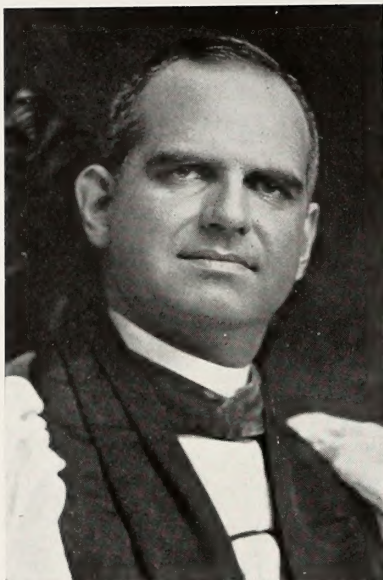

Dr. Henry Crane

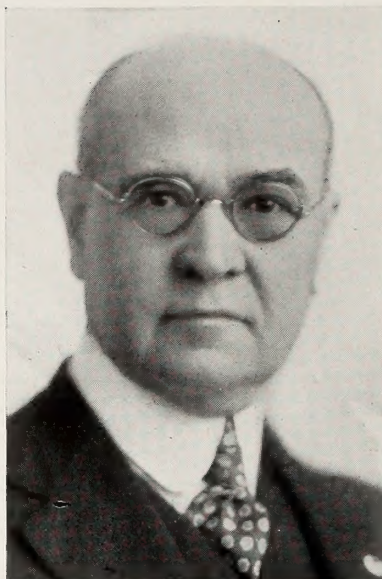

Jan. 10-20. Dr. Henry Hitt Crane, pastor of Malden Centre M. E. Church. Topic—"Essentials." "Four things are essential to Christian living: right thinking, right feeling, right acting, and right believing. The person who is grounded in God is bound to win, no matter what the untoward circumstances may be.

"What is Christianity? It is not a right creed; it is not right conduct; it is not right feelings or opinions, although the Christian should have all these. What is it, then? It is Life."

Y. M.- Y. W. RECEPTION

Ushering in a social season which has never been paralleled in gayety and brilliance in the history of the University, the joint Y. M.-Y. W. reception was given as a welcome to new students on September 15, 1921, in the parlors of the Bovard Administration Building. The faculty, including President and Mrs. Bovard, Dean and Mrs. Healy, Miss Biles, and heads of the various departments, were prominent in the receiving line and assisted in greeting the newcomers. Besides being the first social affair of the season, this event is remarkable for having initiated the parlors for campus social usage.

The program consisted of an address of welcome to the new students by Merle McGinnis; a piano solo by Robert Broadwell, and a reading by Velma Gribbin. The reception was successful in that it preserved an informal atmosphere and was entirely free from that stiffness and stiltedness so often prevalent where stranger meets stranger.

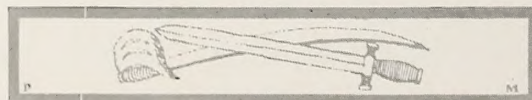

Y. M. STAG-DO

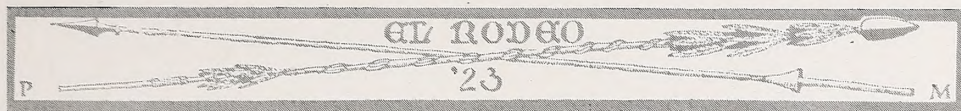

Not content with the reception which included guests of both sexes, the Y. M. C. A. decided to have a "he-man" celebration the following night. Accordingly, a "Stag-Do" was presented for the approval of the male element of the institution. The "gym" was the center of this masculine gayety, where sports, games of all sorts, and wrestling prevailed. One interesting feature of the evening was the annual "serenade for Profs." The men who attended reported a riotous and thoroughly enjoyable evening of gayety unhampered and uncontaminated by feminine influence and atmosphere.

UNIVERSITY HALLOWE'EN PARTY

One of the outstanding social affairs of the year was the "All-University Ball" given at the Wilshire Country Club by the Associated Student Body on Hallowe'en, October 28th. It was the first event of its kind to be given by the University and marks a new epoch in the social annals of the school. Pictures had been taken of the student body, the Trojan staff, the football squad, and various organizations several days previously, and these were presented, together with a side-splitting comedy of Ben Turpin in a "movie" which preceded the dance. Following the picture Mr. Turpin appeared in person and gave a brief and humorous talk.

Then the music—a jazz orchestra—struck up and the crowd, listening to the harmonious strains which ensued, looked at the glistening, polished hardwood floor and let their consciences be their guides. Refreshments in Hallowe'en motifs were served throughout the dance, apples and cider lending an old-fashioned touch that was distinctive of the time and altogether delightful.

JUNIOR FROLIC

During October the juniors forgot their dignity enough to plan and execute a picnic in which formality was taboo. It proved to be just one round of fun and gayety from the time the class left the Administration Building in a sightseeing bus at four o'clock in the afternoon until they returned that evening at a very late hour. The scene of this overflow of hilarity was the Arroyo Seco, which echoed and re-echoed with the joyous shouts of juniors. A huge bonfire was built to take the tang from the autumn air, and in it hot-dogs and marshmallows were toasted. U. S. C. songs were sung and outdoor games played.

JUNIOR PARTY

March 24th the home of Mrs. Sarah Taft Somers, 1500 Ogden Drive, Hollywood, was the scene of a junior "two-in-one party"—a combination dance and party. The house was decorated in spring motifs and U. S. C. colors. Dr. von KleinSmid and his wife were honorary guests. A peppy orchestra held sway in the ballroom, while an interesting program, which was opened with an address by President von KleinSmid, and a party were arranged downstairs for those not terpsichorially inclined. The affair was one of the most successful social events ever given by the class.

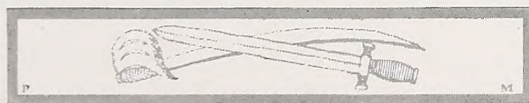

Y. W. C. A. CHRISTMAS PROGRAM

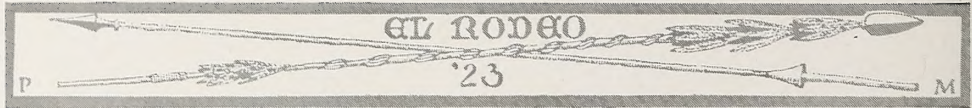

On the afternoon of December 15th the Y. W. C. A. rooms were transformed into a veritable "Santa Claus land." Christmas decorations, even to a real, live Christmas tree with all the trimmings, brightened the parlors. The girls brought toys and gifts, which were taken to a group of poor children in the city.

A short program was given, Gertrude Street contributing to the afternoon's entertainment by a reading, while Gertrude Gilmore sang a solo.

FACULTY "VODVIL"

On December 16th the faculty gave a vaudeville performance for their own amusement. After a dinner which was served in the cafeteria, the faculty repaired to the chapel in the old college and gave a clever and varied series of acts which would have been at once the envy and despair of the Orpheum circuit. The event was staged under the direction of Professor Blanks.

CRANE VISITS

Soon after the arrival of President and Mrs. von KleinSmid came Dr. and Mrs. Henry Hitt Crane of Boston, Mass. The Cranes shared joint honors with our president and his wife at many social functions.

Dr. von KleinSmid entertained for them with a reception and buffet supper January 10th, in the parlors of the Bovard Administration Building. The presidents of all campus organizations were guests. After an introduction by President von KleinSmid, Dr. Crane talked to the assemblage on religious matters and their practical place in school life.

WOMEN'S RECEPTION

Honoring Mrs. von KleinSmid and Mrs. Henry Hitt Crane, the Y. W. C. A. entertained with a reception and tea on January 18th in the University parlors. The rooms were crowded with enthusiastic girls eager to meet these two women so greatly admired and revered by all who know them.

GRADUATES ENTERTAINED

On February 27th the faculty entertained the graduate school with a reception in the parlors. As a courtesy the seniors were additional guests. Dr. von KleinSmid made a short talk, introducing President Emeritus Sparks of Pennsylvania State University, who gave the address of the afternoon. More than thirty different universities and colleges in the various parts of the United States were represented.

TRUSTEES GIVE RECEPTION

A formal reception was given by the trustees of the University in the parlors February 7th in honor of President Emeritus Bovard and President von KleinSmid. In the receiving line were Bishop Adna Leonard, President and Mrs. Bovard, and President and Mrs. von KleinSmid. The faculty were guests on this occasion. The parlors were decorated in spring blossoms and greenery, and light refreshments were served.

DEDICATION OF ADMINISTRATION BUILDING

Dedicatory exercises of the George Finley Bovard Administration Building, in conjunction with the annual Baccalaureate Exercises, covered the period of June 19 to 23, 1921. In the opinion of alumni and students, the ceremony was the most impressive one ever witnessed in the University.

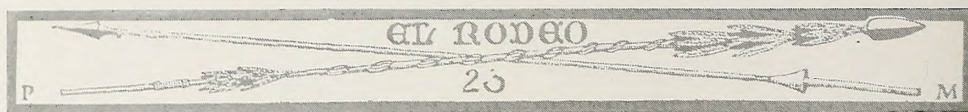

The exercises were formally begun on Sunday, June 19, at 10:45 a. m., with President George Finley Bovard presiding. Dedication of the Administration Building occurred at that time, with Bishop Adna Wright Leonard preaching the sermon, "Our Debt to the Past." The keys to the building were presented to the Board of Trustees by the architect, John Parkinson.

FROSH PREXY LEARNS TO OBEY

"Whale, whale, whale!" Amid the "whaling" of the junior class, assembled on the stage, the coffin of the deceased senior spirit was dropped to rest.

The annual senior sneak day was celebrated in the traditional manner on October 26th, when the graduating class suddenly decided to have a picnic at Roberts Camp, leaving the third-year men and women in charge of the welfare of the University. The juniors took such good care of the campus during the absence of the seniors that not a poster or a sign of the sneak was left after seven a. m.

To commemorate the passing of the dear departed, the last funeral rites were held in the chapel under the guidance of Roy Wolfe, junior president. "U-No-Me-Al" Wesson preached the funeral sermon from that text in which Jonah cried,

TRADITIONS ENFORCEMENT

With the organization of the Trojan Knights to enforce traditions among the men, and the Amazons to enforce them among the women, great strides were made during the past year in subduing the frivolous frosh. The sophomore class was handicapped by not being permitted to bring out the old famous traditions tank, but managed to make the frosh appear sufficiently ridiculous by such simple methods as rolling up their trouser legs, turning their coats inside out, and giving them long rides into the country minus car fare.

A PRE-SATURDAY NIGHT SPECIAL

Freshmen women who had been so audacious as to vamp frosh men were subjected to such an indignity as scrubbing the sidewalk with tooth brushes.

As has been done throughout the past ages, the freshmen put their colors all over the campus at various times, with the result that always soon after the entire babe class was out in full force manning buckets and mops.

PAJAMARINO

With a bigger blaze than ever and a great number of pajama-clad frosh to dance around it, the pajamarino was held on Bovard field December 2. Fire wood "borrowed" from all parts of Southern California was piled high, while the burning of a giant frosh cap was a feature of the evening. The brightness of the event was darkened somewhat by the absence of nine frosh who had worked so hard gathering material for the fire that they were allowed to rest up during the evening in the guest chambers of the University Police Station.

Yells and songs were practiced for the big game with Washington by the thousand students present.

SOPHS WIN AT PUSHBALL

Continuing a precedent started two years ago, the class of '24 subdued a fighting, enthusiastic mass of "peagreeners" in the annual freshman-sophomore pushball contest held last September 21st. After the dust clouds had settled, the score was found to be one goal to a goose egg, with the frosh holding the egg.

SERVICE CAMPAIGN

In the annual Service Campaign to keep a U. S. C. man on the faculty of the University of Pekin, $2,200 was raised. The campaign was held on the 22nd and 23rd of March and was in charge of Marion Joplin, with Dudley Hayes as financial manager, and scores of committee members working.

Several booths, stationed in front of the old college and Administration building, took subscriptions, while unattached workers roamed about the campus, leading the shy ones up to the booths and seeking out those who could not show the yellow tag. A Chinese booth was a feature in which Chinese students dressed in their native garb took subscriptions.

The Oxy tiger was captured in the fall of 1919 by Miss May Mortley and Ivan Summers, and led a stormy existence in the possession of U. S. C. students until its untimely end.

THE OLD CAT DIES

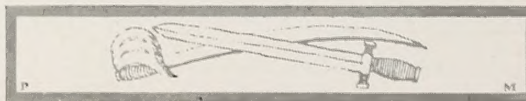

One of the most touching events of the year took place on the 1st of December when a committee from the U. S. C. student body and one from Occidental destroyed the Oxy tiger which had been in possession of the Trojans for the past two years. To foster friendly relations between the University of Southern California and Occidental College, the Trojans had offered to return the sacred animal, but the opinion of the Oxy students was that this purpose could best be accomplished by annihilating the beast over which the two

Edited by the pledges of Sphinx and Snakes, the junior men's honor fraternity, the Yellow Dog appeared on the campus April 4th with a much greater bark than a bite. The "purp" growled at the co-eds, nipped the eds, and took delight in hanging on to the faculty members, but no fights were reported as a result.

THE ASILOMAR CONFERENCE

The annual Asilomar Conference at Monterey Bay was attended by over 30 Trojans during the week of December 26 to January 2. The various student activities of the University were represented, such as Merle McGinnis attending for the student body, Leo Calland for the football team and John Robinson for the Y. M. C. A.

GOT A MATCH?

Mornings at the conference were spent in studying Christianization work, while afternoons were open for hiking, fishing, and all sorts of athletic games. The delegates from the University of Southern California unanimously acclaimed the gathering a splendid success, both from the point of serious work accomplished and good fun enjoyed.

EXTREE PAPER!

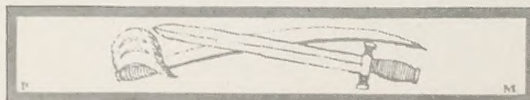

FOOTBALL

The Season

A powerful aggregation of red-blooded fighters! That, in a phrase, describes the varsity football team of 1921. An aggressive, charging line and a backfield equally effective in line smashing or open field play went to make one of the greatest football machines ever turned out by the Cardinal and Gold. Under the guidance of Coach Elmer Henderson, who in his three years at U. S. C. has earned for himself the reputation of being one of the cleverest mentors in college football, the Trojan eleven developed remarkable strength and went down to defeat before but one team, and that one probably the best in the country.

Starting in with a victory of 70 to 0 over California Tech and ending with a 28 to 7 win over Washington State, the U. S. C. team went through an exceedingly strenuous season, unmarred save for the defeat by California in the middle of the season. The squad started out raggedly and, as in the previous year when it defeated Oregon 21 to 0 in the final game of the season, gradually worked up to its best form which it displayed in the last contest of the year.

The Washington State game, played at Tournament Park, Pasadena, was the last one which many of the U. S. C. stars ever played for old Trojan. "Swede" Evans, varsity captain in 1920; Johnny Leadingham, an S. C. backfield star for three years; Jimmy Smith, all-state end in 1920 and a Trojan lineman for three years; Frank Lockett, for two years a hard-hitting back; Jimmie Woodward, who played football for U. S. C. in the olden days when freshmen were allowed to compete and thus completed his fourth year as a member of the varsity; Andy Toolen, for three years S. C.'s Beau Brummel of wingmen; Logan Lindley, the fighting twin and another three-year man; Fred Axe, for two years one of S. C.'s strongest guards; Orrie Hester, said to be one of the best guards in the West and the star of the California game in 1919; and Charley Dean, the captain and the great Trojan battering ram for three seasons—all these men are lost by graduation.

With men out who have been the mainstays of the Trojan lineup for the last three years, during which time they have won twenty-two games out of twenty-four—both defeats by California—the question naturally arises as to whether or not the team can stand this loss. Certainly, “Gloomy Gus” Henderson is the ace of all coaches if he can develop men who can fill the shoes of the graduating players. The student body has the faith to believe that he can do it, for he is the one responsible for putting U. S. C. on the sporting map of the collegiate world.

The most noticeable feature of the entire season was not, however, the strength and ability of the team, but the wonderful spirit of both the football men and the student body as a whole. The men put everything they had into the game and were backed to the limit by Trojan rooters. The chartering of the “Yale” and the filling of it to its capacity with U. S. C. supporters to back the team at Berkeley against California showed that the student body of the University of Southern California had a spirit unbeatable by any institution of its kind in the country. And when the team was defeated at California the spirit did not slacken and the students went on cheering the team even harder than ever for the rest of the season.

With the admission of U. S. C. into the Pacific Coast Conference came the triumphant climax of the 1921 football season. With the University established on an equal athletic footing with California, Stanford, the universities of Oregon and Washington, Washington State College, and Oregon Agricultural College, Trojan supporters can look forward to ever-increasing strength in football in the years to come.

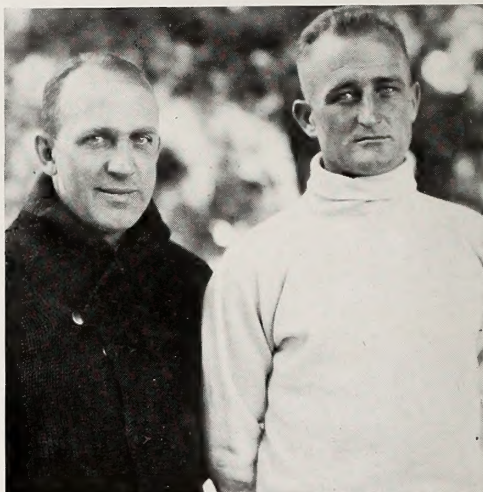

The Coaches

ELMER C. HENDERSON

The most pessimistic of mortals, the gloomiest soul on earth—that is the opinion of those who have endeavored to draw Coach "Gloomy Gus" Henderson into conversation regarding the chances of his football team when the gridiron season was in progress. It has been reported that before the first game last year, when Henderson was asked if the Trojan team would win, he turned a deathly pallor, quivered and quaked all over, and commenced to weep, telling his questioner that he had a team of babies, most of them crippled, who knew so little about football that they would be lucky if none of them were killed before the game was over. The score—U. S. C., 70; Caltek, 0—gives an indication of the coach's character.

HENDERSON

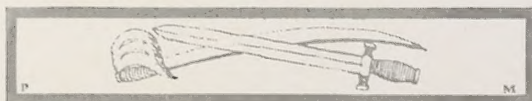

HUNTER

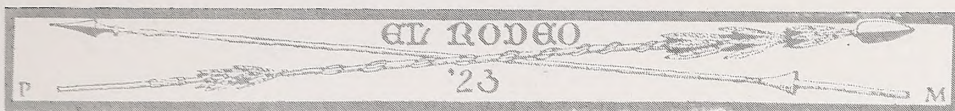

This spirit of being ever gloomy of the outcome has made Henderson a man who is never satisfied with what he has. He is always striving to make his machine more perfect, to put it in the best possible running order, and then to look for more faults and make more improvements. In the three years that he has been at U. S. C., the Trojan team has won twenty-two games and has lost only two; the Trojan players have not only learned scientific football but also have been imbued with an unconquerable fighting spirit, while the student body has awakened to a new interest in athletic activities.

BILL HUNTER

Assistant Coach

William Hunter for two years has been Henderson's right hand man and has been one of the hardest workers on the Trojan gridiron. Bill was all-state fullback in Ohio not many years ago and has been a wizard particularly in coaching backfield men. He has taught the heavy backs how to get away in a hurry, while the lighter men have learned from him some of the tricks of open field running. He has had a remedy for the faults of each man, no problem in "football technique" being too difficult for him to handle.

"SWEDE" RUNDQUIST

Line Coach

The big blonde boy, Swede Rundquist, former demon tackle at the University of Illinois, was a valuable addition to the coaching staff this year. Rundquist let no one in the line loaf and his gentle voice calling out, "Oh you ham, you dub! do you ever expect to know anything about football?" could be heard almost every afternoon as some husky lineman let an opposing back go through his territory.

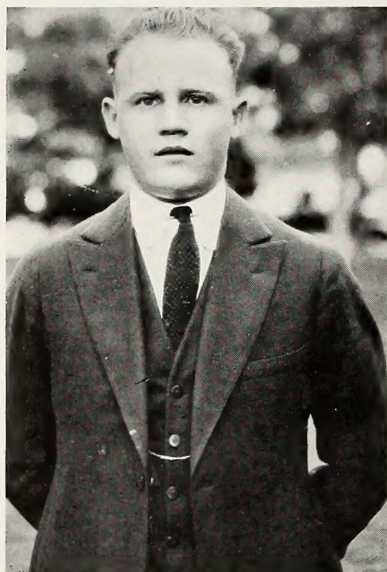

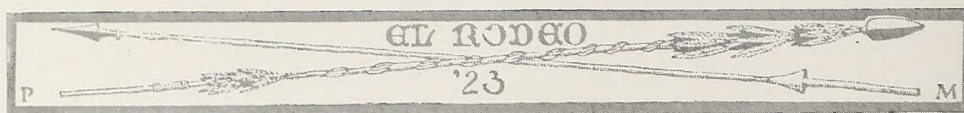

"HOD" OFTSIE

Freshman Coach

Following in the footsteps of Cliff Herd, frosh coach of the two previous years, Oftsie had a tremendous task in winning the confidence of the university as he had been unknown in Western football circles until last year. However, with little encouragement from the student body, he went quietly to work moulding a strong frosh team. The fact that he succeeded admirably was brought out in the Cal.-U. S. C. frosh game when the Trojan babes won by a 14 to 7 score.

Oftsie not only developed a strong frosh aggregation but also gave the varsity valuable experience by scrimmaging his team with the first squad. This scrimmaging with the varsity usually holds a freshman coach back in building up his team, but Oftsie succeeded in organizing a splendid team as well as feeding Henderson's men raw meat to practice on.

The Graduate Managers

HENRY BRUCE

Henry William Bruce, affectionately known by sporting scribes as "Hank" or "Buddha," was responsible for U. S. C.'s splendid football schedule for 1921. Henry had an exceptional knack of being able to schedule games on the home lot, and when he had a big drawing card he secured Tournament Park, Pasadena, for the battles.

After several years of efficient service as graduate manager, Bruce resigned last January 1st to take up new duties as assistant purchasing agent of the university. He is a member of Phi Alpha fraternity and Skull and Dagger.

GWYNN WILSON

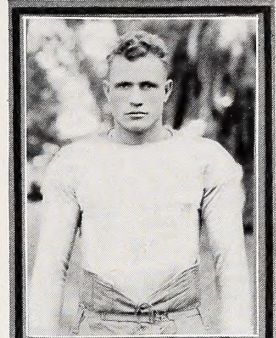

Gwynn Wilson, student body president in 1920-21, captain of the S. C. track team of 1920, and a cinderpath star for three years, was Bruce's assistant during the football season and became graduate manager the first of the year. Gwynn was largely responsible for promoting the "Yale" trip to San Francisco. He also was one of the chief promoters of the new basketball pavilion which is more commonly known as the Wilson Temple.

Wilson has arranged an excellent schedule for next season's football squad. He is a born promoter and a progressive, efficient, young business man. He is a member of Phi Alpha fraternity, Sphinx and Snakes, and Skull and Dagger.

The Men

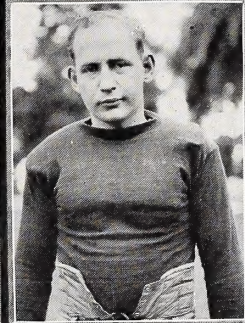

Captain Charley Dean, Left Halfback

Charley Dean, the smashing, galloping halfback, was considered by many football critics to be as good as any backfield man in the country during the season of 1921. Charley was given honorable mention on Walter Camp's All-American squad. He was unstoppable as a line smasher, shifty in the open, a deadly tackler, and an uncanny stopper of forward passes on the defense. An all-around football man and a popular captain—that was Charley. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, Skull and Dagger, and Sphinx and Snakes.

Orrie Hester, Right Guard

Hard tackling and piling up opposing backs when they attempted to go through the Trojan line have been Orrie's best points. He was a battler from the starting whistle, and because of his unconquerable spirit on the field, his team mates voted him the Fred Toesche medal. He is a member of Zeta Kappa Epsilon fraternity and Skull and Dagger.

Andy Toolen, End

Andy Toolen, after two years of consistent playing on the varsity, gained international fame by his long end-around runs and aviating before the camera in the Oxy game. Andy's picture, taken while he was high in the air attempting to avoid being tackled on one of his end-around plays, has been called a classic of football action photography and has been published all over the world. He is a member of Zeta Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

Jimmie Woodward, Quarterback

The diminutive Jim has the distinction of being four years a U. S. C. varsity man. He played his first year for S. C. when freshmen were allowed to compete on varsity athletic teams. Jimmy had probably the best football head of any of Henderson's men. Brainwork made up for him what he lacked in speed and weight. He is a member of Zeta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, Sphinx and Snakes, and Skull and Dagger.

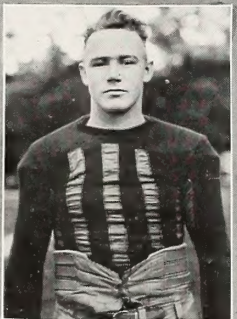

Captain-Elect Leo Calland, Left Guard

Leo Calland plays any position in the line, although he usually started at left guard. His 200 pounds of solid meat and bone was a stonewall at either tackle, guard, or center. He played nearly every minute of every game, and his wonderful fighting spirit in every second of play has been a model for his teammates. He will make an ideal captain for the 1922 varsity. He is a member of Zeta Kappa Epsilon fraternity and Sphinx and Snakes.

Paul Greene, Left End

"Pivi" Greene was slow to round into his best form although he started all the games. In the last two games he was at his best, smearing all attempts to get around his side of the line, quickly taking advantage of an opponent's fumble, and charging and blocking splendidly. He will be one of Henderson's best next year. He is a member of Zeta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, Sphinx and Snakes, and Skull and Dagger.

Howard "Hobo" Kincaide

Kincaide was a battering ram, a line plunger without peer. In the Washington State game, every time he started at the line it meant yards. He is expected to do great things on the varsity next year. He is a member of Sigma Chi fraternity.

Amor Galloway, Left Half

Amor has been for years a well-known football athlete in California. He was captain of Manual Arts' state championship team in 1916 and played on the Mare Island Marine team New Years' Day, 1918. He is an all-around back, good for yards either through the line or around it. He has another year on the varsity. He is a member of Phi Alpha fraternity.

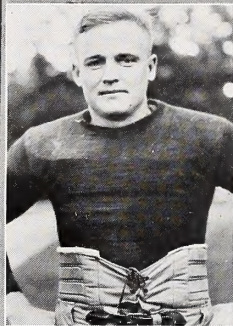

Johnny Leadingham, Quarter

"Long Jawn Slipperyham" has been the oozing, squirming eel and one of the most consistent ground gainers of the Trojan backfield for three years. One of the lightest men in the backfield, he has played to the finish of almost every game, taking punishment that would have killed many a huskier man. He was given honorable mention in Walter Camp's All-American team. He is a member of Sigma Chi fraternity.

Logan Lindley, Left Guard

According to Coach Henderson, there were no men on the 1921 team who could equal the Lindley twins in fight and aggressiveness. Logan, the graduating half of the Lindley combination, played a clean hard game every minute and was one of the most dependable U. S. C. linemen. He has played three years of varsity football. He is a member of Phi Alpha fraternity.

Jimmy Smith, Right End

Playing his third and last year on the varsity, the curly-haired beauty, Jimmy Smith, was one of the great bulwarks of defense in the Trojan line. An uncanny way of knowing where the opponent's play was going, combined with his sure tackling and clever blocking, made Jimmy one of the greatest ends ever developed at U. S. C. He is a member of Theta Psi fraternity.

Fred Axe, Right Guard

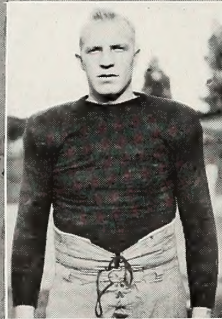

Fred Axe in football uniform has the appearance of an Anglo-Saxon warrior of "ye goode olde days," and no tin-incased warrior of history ever fought any harder than did Fred in his two years on the Trojan varsity. He had never played a game of football in his life before coming to college and he was twenty pounds lighter than most linemen, but he made good as a varsity man through determined, hard work. He is a member of Phi Alpha fraternity.

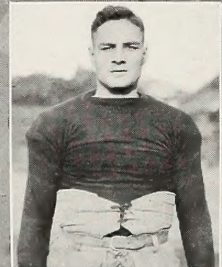

Frank Lockett, Right Half

Frank was a hard-hitting, plunging fullback. With men of that kind in Dean and Kincaide, he had plenty of hard work making the team again this year, but he came through better than ever and will be greatly missed next season. He is a member of Theta Psi fraternity, Phi Delta Phi at Law School, and Skull and Dagger.

Roy "Swede" Evans, Right Tackle

The big blonde tackle, Swede Evans, who made Jack Dempsey look small when the latter visited the campus two years ago, has been a concrete wall of defense for the S. C. eleven. For three years no game could start right without Swede's silvery head sticking out at the tackle position. He also was given honorable mention on Camp's All-American team and is a member of Sigma Chi fraternity.

"Turk" Hunter, Left Half

"Turk" had the rare combination of line plunging ability with shiftiness in a broken field. When he had broken loose through the line, he was a hard man to stop with his shifty galloping stride. He was an excellent man on the defense as well as being a great offensive player.

Lowell Lindley, Center

Lowell, the other twin, was one of those quiet, steady, fighting linemen, rarely noticed by the fans because of his lack of spectacular play but indispensable to the coach and his team mates. Lowell's passing from center was consistently good. More weight would have helped him, but his willingness to mix in every play made up for any lack of beef. He will be back again next year. He is a member of Phi Alpha fraternity.

Johnny Boyle, Left Tackle

Johnny's first game this year was against California and his playing was so sensational that he was immediately mentioned for All-American by many critics. In the Cal. game which called for superhuman efforts, Johnny played all over the field, making half of the tackles and following the ball every second. In later games he did not star, but was consistently good. He has another year on the varsity. He is a member of Theta Psi fraternity.

Chet Dolley, Quarter

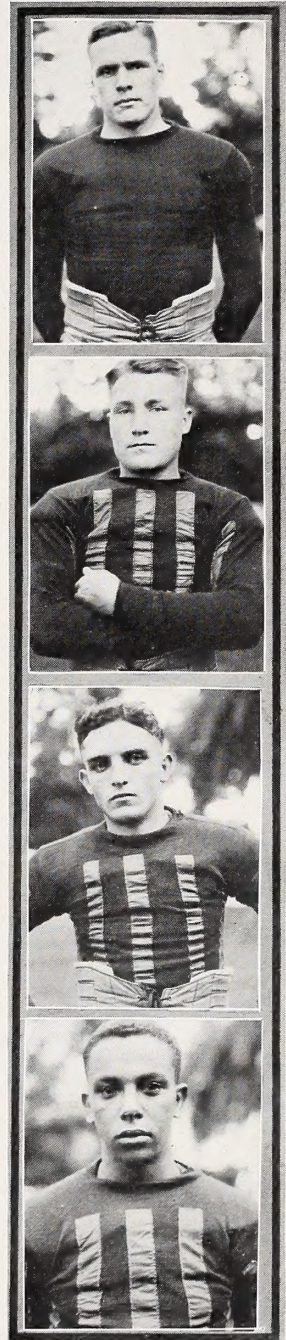

Chet was a team mate of Phil in high school and is another fast man. He is a cool thinker on the field and a clever broken field runner. He subbed for Leadingham on the 1921 team, and should be an excellent first string quarter next season. He has two more years. He is a member of Sigma Chi fraternity.

Eddie Leahy, Fullback

Eddie Leahy, the little peppery back, again played a flashy game this year. He was an exceedingly dangerous man, for at the most unexpected moment he would break away for a long, brilliant run and a touchdown. He has another year to spread fear throughout the enemy's camp. He is a Junior at Law.

Cliff Gordon, End

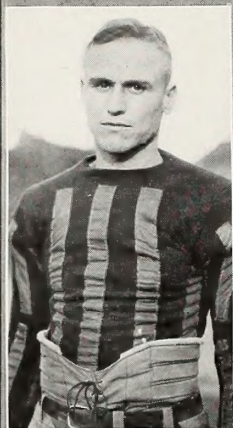

Gordon was light but was a sure tackler at end. He was quick to follow the play and always ready to dive into it and get his man. He has played two years on the varsity and has one more left.

Gordon Campbell, Fullback

Campbell, a sophomore, was another streaky backfield man who kept competition for honors behind the line keen. At the height of his form he was injured and put out of the game for the rest of the season. If he can get into good condition next fall, he should be a whiz for Henderson. He is a member of Sigma Chi fraternity.

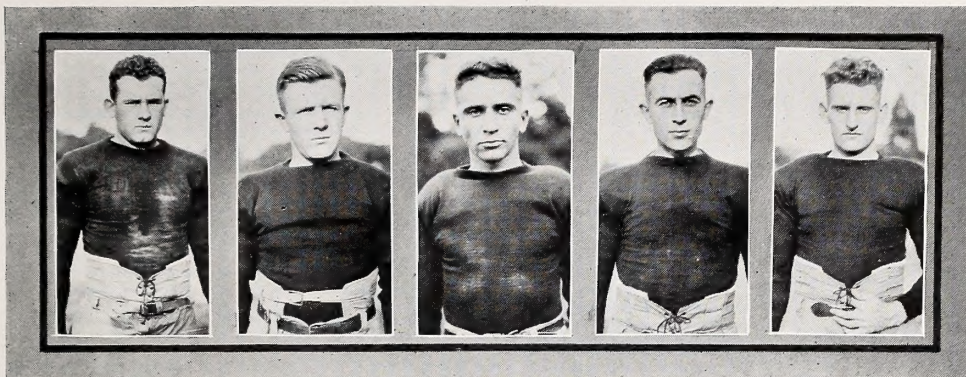

Phil Tiernan, Full Back

"Phlash Phil" was a streak around the ends, and when the line and interference got their men he was unstopable. Phil is light and gets away with the ball before many opponents know what is happening. He is a demon in an open field. He has two more years of varsity football. He is a member of Sigma Chi fraternity.

Ted Kutchell, Center

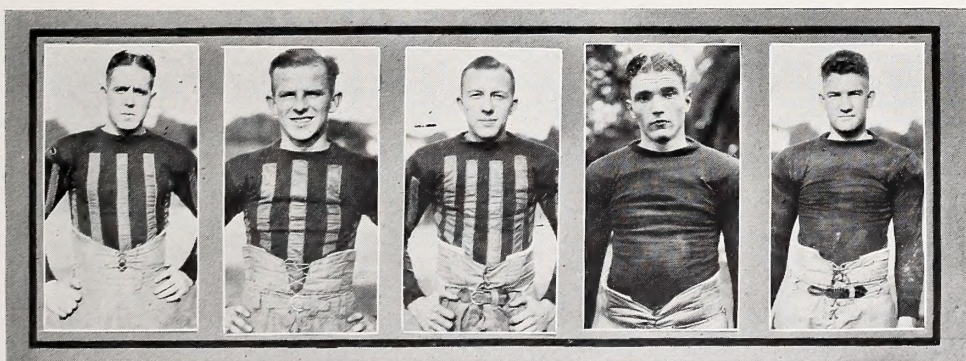

Ted is a beefy boy who played a splendid game in the line. Playing his first year on the varsity, he showed plenty of fight and aggressiveness. He has two more years of varsity football. He is a member of eta Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

They Also Serve

Very little credit is ever given to the men who stay out for football all season even when they see that there is no chance for them to win a monogram. Any coach will say that the second and third and fourth string men are the back bone of his team and the squad is badly handicapped without them. The subs work just as hard as the regulars and are usually the "goats" for the first string men to practice their attack on. Many times only early season injuries keep the subs out of the game long enough to keep them from winning their monogram.

In addition to the regulars, there was a loyal handful of substitutes still plugging away when the season of '21 ended. Ralph Cummings, Frank Von Mohr, Johnny Robinson, Kenny White, John Milton and George Freeman came within a few minutes of playing long enough to win the Trojan insignia. Great credit is also due to subs King, Shindler, Purcell, and Cassill for giving their best to the university in unrewarded service.

Dean Starts Over for a Touchdown in Tech Game

U. S. C. 70, California Tech 0

The first game of the season was with Cal Tech, played on the 8th of October on Bovard Field. Throughout the entire contest the Trojans had things their own way, tearing through and around the Engineers' defense at will and rolling up a score of 70 to 0.

At the first of the game things looked bad for the Trojans. Tech got away with a good start, made first downs, gained again on a forward pass, and had the ball on the Trojan 25-yard line. Here U. S. C. got the ball on downs, but fumbled, and the Engineers tried a pass. It was intercepted and Leadingham punted off into the distance, sending Tech's hopes farther away than the pigskin.

A minute later Leadingham and Campbell brought the ball near the Engineers' line and Dean took the ball five yards to a touchdown. With the ball in midfield, a few minutes later, Charlie broke away for a 45-yard run along the side lines for the second touchdown.

What Dean started his teammates more than finished. Before the afternoon was over, Leadingham made a 60-yard run to a touchdown, Leo Calland crossed the line twice, Amor Galloway made two touchdowns, while Kincaid, Dolley, and Hunter each chalked up one apiece.

Tiernan Gallops Through a Hole in Pomona Game

U. S. C. 35, Pomona 7

The Pomona game, played one week before the Berkeley trip, on October 28th, saw the Cardinal and Gold take its third roughshod ride over the ambitions of a worthy opponent. Bovard Field was the scene of battle, and while the score of 35 to 7 shows Pomona as the first team to score on the Trojans, the touchdown came late in the game after U. S. C. had a wide margin of safety and a flock of substitutes on the field. Henderson's men hopped into the lead from the start when Kincaid took the ball over the line in the first few minutes of play.

U. S. C. 42, Occidental 0

Occidental vs. U. S. C. at Patterson Field was the schedule for the 15th of October, and when everything had gone off as prearranged, Henderson's team had a second scalp hanging from their community belt. The score this time was 42 to 0, and to Charlie Dean goes much of the credit for making what was really a desperate fight look on the scoreboard like a picnic for the Cardinal and Gold warriors.

Frank Lockett made two touchdowns, while Andy Toolen, the versatile Trojan end, also crossed the Tiger line twice as the receiver of forward passes.

U. S. C. 14, Whittier 0

While the Trojan was resting up after the California Field encounter, preparatory to playing two late season games with O. A. C. and Washington State, he engaged in the little pastime of cinching the Southern California title. Whittier was the contender, 14 to 0 the score, Campbell and Kincaid the scorers, and Suggett the thorn in the Trojan's side.

It was a good game all the way, although the Cardinal and Gold team gave the impression that it was holding something in store for the future. The apparent closeness of the match was marred by the fact that the Trojan varsity scored in the first three minutes of play, when Suggett fumbled on his own 30-yard line and the ball was recovered by Campbell behind the Poet goal posts. Evans kicked and the crowd settled back for the slaughter that failed to take place.

Campbell played a brilliant game until he cracked his collar bone, while Leadingham's punting and Evans' line work were features of the game.

In the final quarter the S. C. scoring machine went strong again, and Woodward, Dolley, Leadingham and Kincaid packed the ball to a touchdown, the latter scoring. Evans kicked. Final score, 14 to 0.

California 38, U. S. C. 7

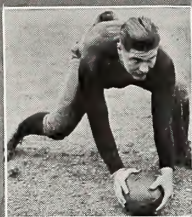

On California Field, November 5th, surrounded by twenty-two thousand howling rooters, the University of California defeated its southern rival by the score of 38 to 7. The Golden Bear outplayed the Trojan in one of the most bitterly contested gridiron battles seen last fall in the entire West. The first half ended with Andy Smith's team leading 14 to 7, but in the second stage of the game the U. S. C. defense broke, permitting the northerners to make 18 points in the third quarter and 7 more in the last few minutes of the game.

California's teamwork was superior to that of the Cardinal and Gold, the Bears making scarcely a fumble, while the Trojans committed costly mistakes and were penalized at critical times in the course of the game. Charlie Dean, who was sick and should not have entered the contest at all, was replaced by Frank Lockett in the third quarter. Dean's game was erratic and sensational, and while the Trojan captain made some bad breaks he also made the only touchdown for the southerners and was the most consistent ground gainer in the backfield.

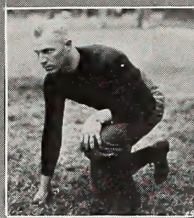

To John Boyle, however, must go the credit for being the outstanding performer of either team. Coach Henderson's huge left tackle was in the center of the desperate Trojan defense in practically every play, and All-American Dan McMillan, who played opposite him, failed to hold a candle to the U. S. C. linesman. On the offensive, Boyle opened passages for the backfield, and when the Bears had the ball he was a tower of strength at all times. He was the most consistently brilliant performer on the field.

U. S. C. 7, O. A. C. 0

Fifteen thousand spectators saw Henderson's team take advantage of the breaks in the game with Oregon Agricultural College and defeat the Aggies by a 7 to 0 score. As in the Whittier game, no special plays were tried, the team depending largely on Long John Leadingham's punting to keep the ball in foreign territory. The line was a tower of strength whenever the fighting farmers got anywhere near the U. S. C. goal, and only once was the danger of a score by the visitors very great.

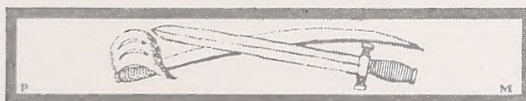

Phil Runs Back to Pass, with Dean Protecting, in Washington State Game

U. S. C. 28, Washington State 7

In a game second only to the California contest for thrills and fast football, the Trojans ended the 1921 season by trampling on Washington State College at Tournament Park, December 3rd. Ten varsity men were playing their last game of football for U. S. C. and many Trojan fans of several years' standing say that these men played the best game of their careers in their final contest for the Cardinal and Gold.

Before the first quarter was half over, S. C. made her first touchdown. Evans kicked off and Washington, failing to gain, punted to Johnny Leadingham, who ran the ball back to the U. S. C. 40-yard line. The attack of Leadingham and Tiernan around the ends and Dean and Kincaid through the line started then, but was interrupted by an incomplete pass.

Washington fought well and the U. S. C. gains were made against tremendous opposition. In the last quarter, with four touchdowns against her, Washington scored, using the passing game effectively. Washington State had held California to a 14 to 0 score and was picked an easy winner over the Trojans. When the U. S. C. team, playing its last game of the season, really opened up, it proved to be right at the top among the contenders for highest intercollegiate football honors.

FROSH FOOTBALL SQUAD

Freshman Football

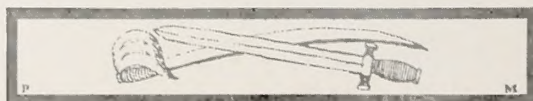

Frosh football ended in a blaze of glory on November 5th when the babes defeated the Bear cubs from Berkeley by a 14 to 7 score at Bovard Field. Previous to that game, the freshmen from S. C. had easily defeated the best high school teams in the Southland. About thirty husky frosh reported for duty at the start of the season, and from this aggregation Coach Oftsie formed a strong eleven.

Doped by Southern California football "experts" to be badly beaten in the game with the California frosh, the U. S. C. team surprised the critics by being master of the situation at all times during the game. The wierd spread formation of the local team was too much for the opponents to solve. Phythian, Kirkpatrick, Anderson, Murdock and Riddle starred in the backfield, while Cole, Johnson, and Boice in the line stood out. Otto Anderson's punting and Johnny Riddle's line plunging were important factors in the U. S. C. victory. The U. S. C. lineup was as follows: Keller, L.E.; Cole, L.T.; Adams, L.G.; Tyrell, C.; Banford, Dupuy, R.G.; Vincent, Johnson, R.T.; Boice, R.E.; Messick, Kirkpatrick, Q.; Murdock, Anderson, L.H.; Phythian, R. H.; Riddle, F.

The Varsity Club

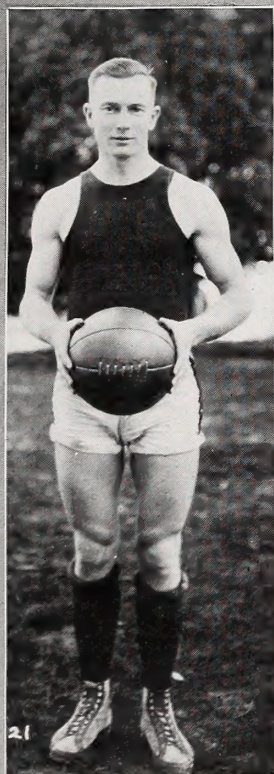

Organized three years ago under the guiding hand of Coach Henderson, the U. S. C. Varsity Club has become one of the university's foremost honorary organizations. All winners of S. C. monograms in all lines of athletics are eligible to membership which is regarded as a distinct honor.

All of the monogram winners on the 1921 football team are Varsity Club members as well as the coaches and graduate managers.

BASKET BALL

CAPTAIN GRAHAM

COACH HUNTER,

The Season

Basketball's greatest single achievement this year was the securing of the new $25,000 pavilion, located on Exposition Boulevard near University avenue. With this new building as the battlefield for the local games, the winter sport leaped to sudden prominence with the sport fans of the university and the result was an attendance at the important games which would have been termed a "pipe dream" had it been predicted a year ago.

To give first place to the "Trojan Temple of Sport," however, is not to imply that the team was below par. Far from it, for with the added strength of Gordon Campbell, Shapiro, and Kenny White, plus all of last year's men, the squad was an exceptionally strong one this year and turned out a heavy percentage of victories in games played.

Southern California games were all victories for the locals, and in the Arizona series, only the defective basket-shooting of the Trojans gave Arizona two out of the four games played.

THE CAPTAIN

Charley Graham, Guard

Charley Graham was the smallest man on the court, but he was fast, clever and always after the man with the ball. He was a popular captain, and through his and Coach Hunter's efforts secured a large number of candidates for the team.

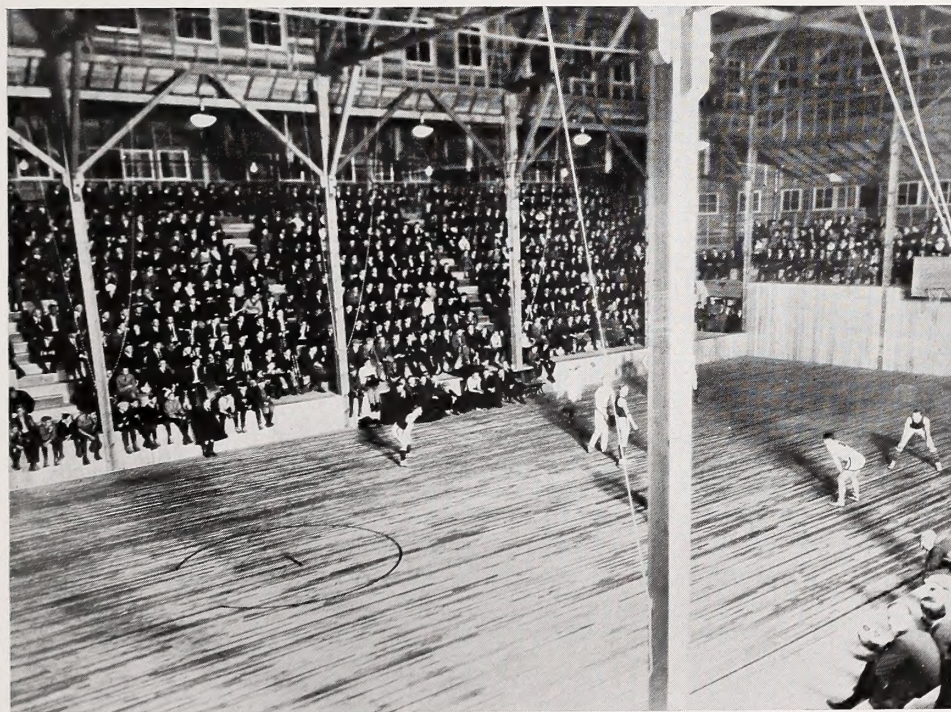

THE COACH

BILL HUNTER

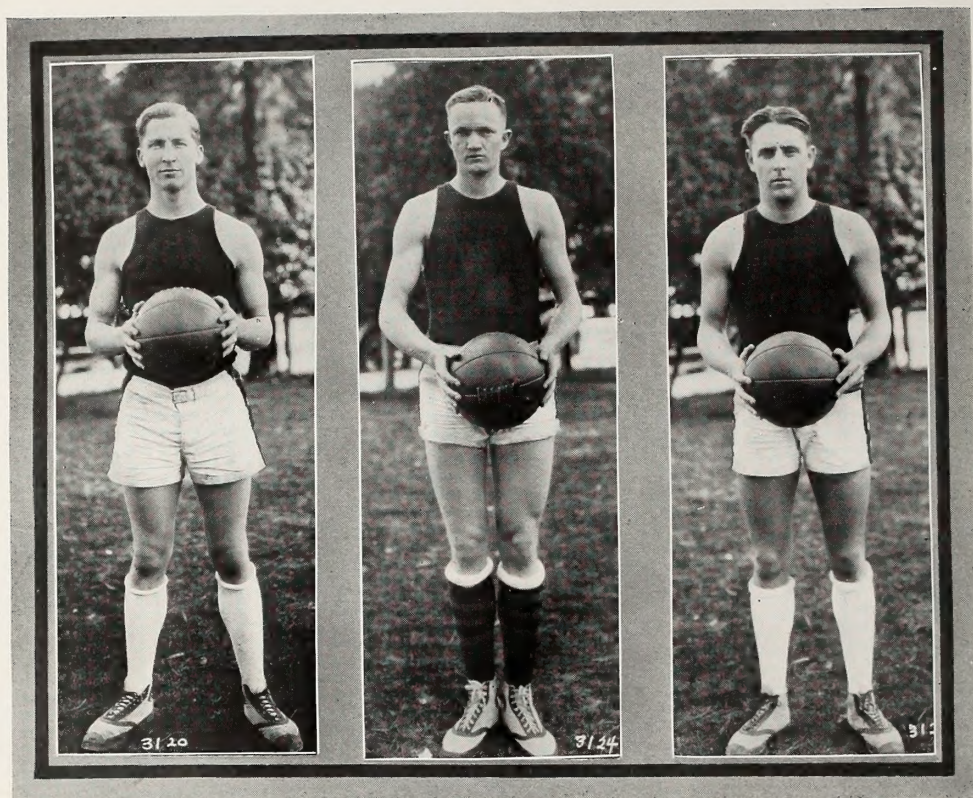

Bill Hunter, assistant to Henderson in football, took charge of basketball this year and made good in his first season as S. C.'s basketball coach. Bill is largely responsible for the splendid floor work of the Trojans.

THE RESULTS

The results of the games during the 1922 season were as follows: S. C. 21, Occidental 6; S. C. 35, Tech 22; S. C. 28, 46, Arizona 36, 20; S. C. 13, 20, California 42, 36; S. C. 27, 26, Arizona 28, 15; S. C. 29, 9, California 28, 45.

U. S. C. PAVILION ON OPENING NIGHT

AXE

THE MEN

Dutch Hinrichs, Center

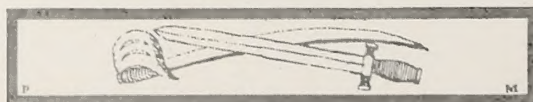

The genial and reliable Dutch was as ever the best team man on the basketball squad. He played a steady, consistent game at all times. He never made long, spectacular shots, but was always under the basket ready to drop the ball in after someone had missed.

Fred Axe, Guard

Fred Axe had the natural grace of a baby hippo on the court and that is what made him such a dangerous man. A few accidental bumps from Fred and his opposing forward was afraid to try to receive the ball from then on. Fred and Dutch were the most consistently good men on the team.

Grant Kuhns, Forward

Grant was not a whirlwind on the court, but was extremely accurate and shifty. He was always a dangerous man as he leisurely trotted around the court, for he was a star at long shots and made many a point from places in the court where others would not think of attempting a shot.

BOECK

George Boeck, Forward or Center

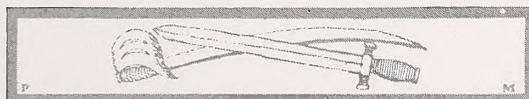

George had the ideal build for a good forward, his long legs carrying him rapidly up and down the court, while his long arms gave him an advantageous reach in shots close to the basket.

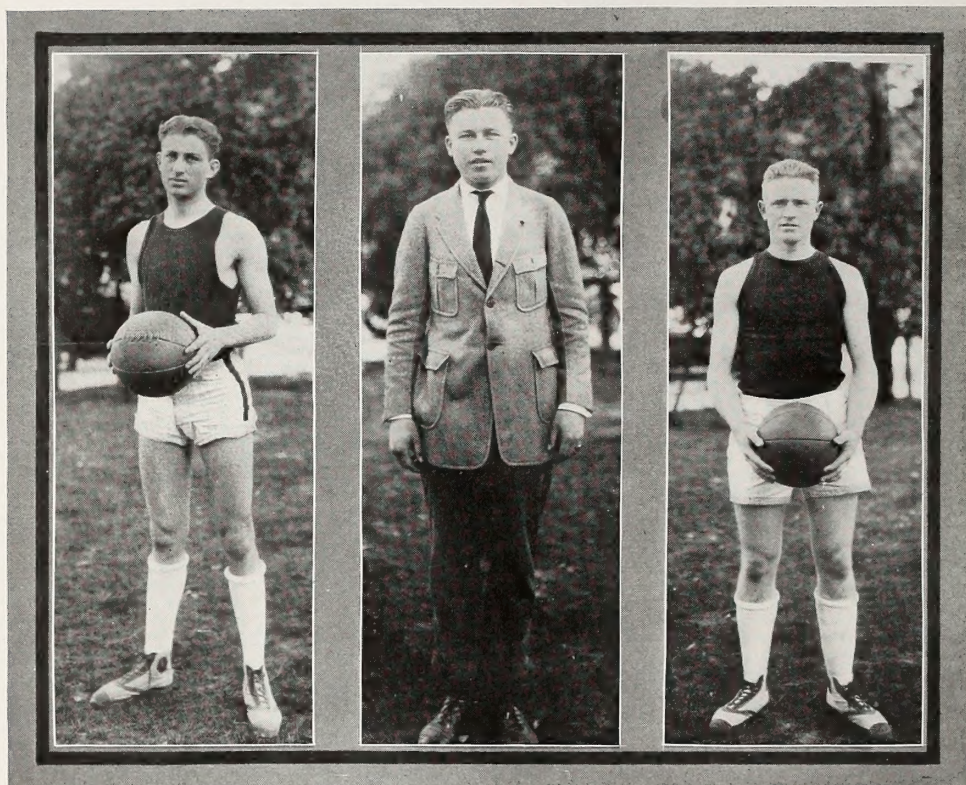

Gordon Campbell, Guard

Campbell played on the Los Angeles Athletic Club team last year when he was a freshman and was used to fast company. He was a streak on the floor, following the ball everywhere and often making more points than the forwards. He has two years more on the U. S. C. team and should be one of the best collegiate basketball players in the country.

Kenny White, Forward

Kenny was a sophomore and had to break into high-class basketball society to make the U. S. C. team, but he came through with a bang and started nearly every game. He was fast, and with another year or two with Campbell will make a wonderful speed combination.

SHAPIRO

DIEDRICKSEN

BUTTERFIELD

Carl Diedricksen, Manager

Carl was a busy man this year working for a big season for the team. He proved a very able young business manager.

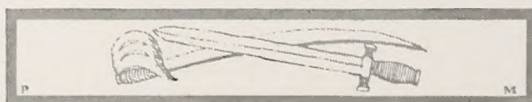

Butterfield and Shapiro, Subs

Al Butterfield was a fast, tricky man on the court and a star at either guard or forward. Shapiro was a reliable basket shooter and another fast player.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

The frosh basketball team, under the direction of Coach Lee, went through a strenuous season, defeating nearly every one of the strong Southland high school teams except Hollywood. The frosh team was light, but fast and clever, and will be able to make some valuable additions to the varsity next year.

The members were: Forwards, Augustine (captain), Krissell, Herman, Covey; center, Foster; guards, Bone, Chabre, Chotiner and Mainland.

CRACK

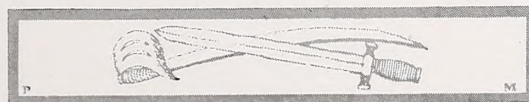

PM

Minus the services of some of last year's best men, Coach Dean Cromwell found himself with little material with which to build up a winning team the past season. With such men as Isenhouer, Wilson, and Paddock out of the running, U. S. C. suffered a severe shortage of good men. However, there were new men who showed up well in Raney, sprints and high hurdles; Davis, high jump; Waterman, half mile; Cole, mile, and Patton, relay. Cap. Rogers got into form and was a sure point winner in every meet.

Four stars remained from last year. They were George Schiller, last year's captain and an Olympic team man; Swede Evans, another Olympic athlete; John Boyle, and Dick Emmons. Without Wilson and Isenhouer, the famous Trojan one-mile relay team of Schiller, Leahy, Wilson and Isenhouer was split up. These men set a new school record of 3:22 in that event late last spring and were undefeated. Isenhour, 1922 captain, did not return to college. Paddock was then given the job, but he graduated in February. Not wishing to keep any more of the boys away from the university, the team did not elect another captain.

The work of Spec Schiller was a feature of the season. The little iron man of the S. C. track squad won every 440 which he entered, placed in the sprints in nearly every meet, and ran the last lap in the relay. Johnny Boyle and Swede Evans repeatedly heaved the discus around the 140 foot mark and put the shot 42 or 43 feet. Most of the varsity men will be back next year and with the added stars of the 1922 freshman squad will make a splendid all-round team.

The track team competed in two A. A. U. meets and five dual contests. The team easily won the A. A. U. Relay Carnival and also the A. A. U. Open Championships. Two dual meets each with California and Stanford were lost, but an easy victory was registered in the dual contest with Redlands.

The Meets

A. A. U. RELAY CARNIVAL AT REDLANDS

The first track contest for the Trojans came off February 18th at Redlands when the annual A. A. U. Relay Carnival was held. The Cardinal and Gold won this meet handily, taking first in five out of the eight open events. Otto Anderson and Oliver Cory, freshmen, won the broad jump and high jump respectively, while Emmons, Harvey, and Chapman took the first three places in the pole vault. S. C. won the 8-man mile relay by almost half a lap. The feature event was the 4-man mile event which the Trojan squad won after a spectacular last lap by Schiller.

The Redlands Meet at Bovard Field

The first dual meet of the year was held with Redlands U., March 4th and ended in a U. S. C. victory by a 72 2-3 to 49 1-3 score. During the meet, Charley Paddock ran an exhibition 100 yard dash, stepping the distance off in 9:4 for the benefit of any who thought his speed was slipping. Schiller won the 440, tied for first in the 220, and took second in the 100. U. S. C. was weak in the distance events although Waterman won the half. Cap. Rogers with his long kangaroo-like stride walked away with the low hurdles with Neal Raney, his team mate, close behind.

The California Meet at Bovard Field

California visited U. S. C. on March 18, bringing down twice as many men as the Trojan could raise to compete for them on their home field. The northerners had their own way in the distances and the sprints, but were trounced in the 440, high jump, shot-put, and discus. Schiller defeated his old rival, Hendrixon, in the quarter and beat out McDonald, another Bear 440 star. Davis leaped to fame in the high jump going 6 feet, 1 $\frac{3}{4}$ inches, three inches higher than he had ever jumped before.

The Stanford Meet at Bovard Field

By a score of 85 to 46 Stanford trounced U. S. C. on March 25. The meet was featured by the wonderful marks of Hartranft, the Stanford star, in the weights and his 10 flat victory in the 100. Cap. Rogers had a gala day, winning the low hurdles in fast time and leaping into first place in the broad jump. Schiller won the 440 in 50:1 and then went out and took first in the 220 from Stanford's corps of speed artists. Raney was given first place in the high hurdles when Falk of Stanford kicked over three barriers.

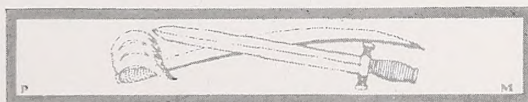

The California Meet at Berkeley

Only nine men went north with the track team to meet Cal. and Stanford. There were no sprinters, distance men, javelin throwers, or relay men entered in the meets for U. S. C., Coach Cromwell depending upon his men to place well up in the events in which they belonged and not to attempt to compete in the events to which they were unaccustomed.

However, at California by running Schiller in the 100 and 220, and not in the quarter Cromwell made two more points than he would have if George had won the 440. Eddie Leahy ran a pretty quarter mile and nearly beat the Cal. men, taking a close third. Schiller took second to Hutchinson in both sprints. Evans lost first place in the shot-put by $\frac{1}{4}$ inch. Boyle and Evans took the two first places in the discus. Rogers, Jimenez, Emmons, and Davis all won points in their events. Neil Raney tied for first in the high hurdles. Cal. won the meet 92 to 34, but as they had held the combined team of all the Southern California Conference schools down to 25 points the week before, this score was not at all bad.

The Stanford Meet at Palo Alto

The last dual meet of the season for the Trojans went to the Cardinal squad by an 86 to 40 score on April 11. Schiller in the 440, Emmons in the high jump, and Boyle in the discus, won first places for U. S. C. Schiller ran one of the prettiest 440's of the year, beating out Williamson, Stanford's best man, by 10 feet in 50 seconds flat.

U. S. C.'S WORLD'S CHAMP

Last year Charley Paddock competing for U. S. C. in a dual meet against California at Berkeley began breaking records. He first ran 100 yards in 9:3, equalling the world's record, and then stepped off the 220 in 20:4, clipping 2-5 second from a record which had stood for 25 years. From that time on, no sprint record was safe when Charley started. He now holds nine world records, having set a new mark in nearly every distance from 90 yards to 300 meters with the exception of the 100 yard dash, the record time for which he has equalled six times.

THE FRESHMAN TRACK TEAM

Prospects are excellent for the greatest varsity in history next year when the frosh track squad blossoms into sophomorehood. Two United States interscholastic champions were members of the team, while there were half a dozen other unbeatable men. The frosh squad easily defeated the best high school teams of the south in dual meets.

BASEBALL

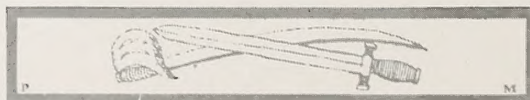

Because of the construction work going on at Exposition Park, where the Trojan baseball team holds its workouts, the old national pastime was slow in getting started at U. S. C. this spring. Up until May 1st the Trojans had no diamond on which to practice and consequently the U. S. C. squad was slow in rounding into form.

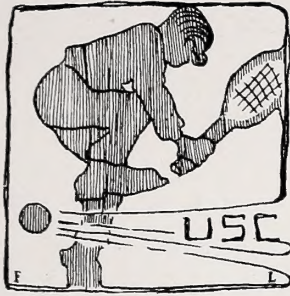

The squad members were as follows: Catchers, Dean, Farman and Tellez; pitchers, Hinrichs, Thornton, Jones and Poole; first base, Herlihy and White; second base, Turner and Wallace; third base, Foss, shortstop, Ferrar and Riddle; left field, Raney and Kincaide; center field, Kuhns, right field, Evans.

Tennis

Tennis men of U. S. C. have done a great deal this year in putting the name of the University before the other colleges of the country. The feature of the tennis season was the eastern trip of Stanton Welch and Paul Greene. These men started their invasion into foreign fields on April 27th, when they met the University of Arizona. From there they proceeded eastward, taking on the best collegiate tennis men in the United States, including representatives of such institutions as Wisconsin, Michigan, Annapolis, George Washington University, Georgetown, Columbia, Princeton, Amherst, Williams, Massachusetts Tech, Colgate, Hamilton, Dartmouth, and many others. To date they have gone through this strenuous schedule, winning all of their matches. They will end their trip by competing in the intercollegiate championships at Philadelphia, June 26th.

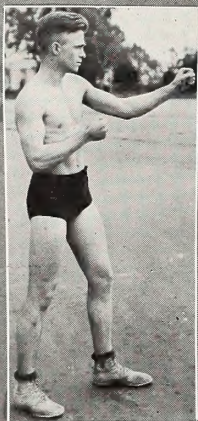

The members of the tennis varsity were Stanton Welch, Paul Greene, Joe Skleners (captain), Ed Berry, and Harold Williamson, manager. Welch and Greene, playing first doubles, were practically unbeatable, Welch with his terrific driving and Greene with his accurate placing. Mr. H. R. Lee, of the Physical Education Department, coached the team.

The freshman tennis team was exceptionally strong, with Harold Godshall, one-time national junior doubles champion with Bob Allen, as first man and Howard White his teammate in the first doubles. These two competed at Ojai with the varsity men, Greene and Welch, in both the intercollegiate matches and the open contests. Other members of the frosh team were Joe Call, Cullingham, Maxwell Stiles (captain) and George Parmelee.

BOXING

Backed by the Varsity Club and coached by James J. Woodward, the Venice pugilist, the U. S. C. boxing team passed through a very successful season this year. With three of the best men freshmen and several of the varsity men under weight in their division, the Trojan squad was handicapped. However, this spring's team will be a strong nucleus for a squad next year, and S. C. can look forward to a victorious future. The squad met California and Stanford in boxing carnivals at the Trojan pavilion and then journeyed north for return matches.

MINOR SPORTS

WRESTLING

With the first year of wrestling as a minor sport concluded, prospects for a splendid U. S. C. team in this line in the future are very good. Coach Lee had no men in the heavyweight classes and in the other divisions his men were inexperienced. However, they held S. B. U. C. and the Los Angeles Y. M. C. A. teams to a tie and put up a good match against Stanford. Most of the wrestlers were frosh, and with the experience gained this year will make good material next spring.

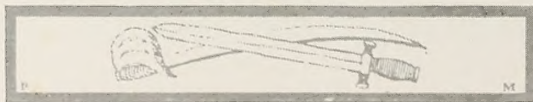

The varsity wrestlers were: Huston and Hori, 125 pounds; Porter and Varney, 130 pounds; and de Paszthory, 145 pounds. Frosh who made a good showing were: Graves, 125; Unmack, 158; and Francey, 145.

GYMNASTIC TEAM

A well-rounded gymnastic team was developed at U. S. C. this year. The men made an excellent showing at the City Open Meet, being beaten only by the L. A. A. C. and the Turnverein teams of national champions. On May 13th a big gymnastic tournament was held at the Trojan pavilion to decide the State championship. California, Stanford, and all of the well-known athletic clubs of the State competed.

The events and the members of the U. S. C. teams were as follows: Horizontal bar, Schultz, Settles, Trchizinski, Walter; rings, Murdock, Schultz, Martz, Krissel; tumbling, Murdock, Settles, Krissel, Tarr; parallel bars, Krissel, Norviel, Schultz, Trchizinski, Kolsoff, Bone; rope, Schultz; long horse, Krissel, Taylor, Schultz; side horse, Toothaker, Grant, Walker, Tarr; club swinging, Taylor, Walker, Unmack; all-around, Krissel and Schultz.

Krissel took second place in the national springboard diving championships held this spring at San Francisco. He had already won the national junior springboard title. In winning second in the national championships he defeated Clarence Pingston, former international diving champion.

The function of a university is primarily the cultivation of the intellect. The fundamental reason for the assembling of the student body is the development of their powers of thought, and their acquisition of truths and facts as a basis for thought, for their own enlightenment and the increase of intellectual leadership in the community.

The Scholarship Society exists for the purpose of giving public recognition to such members of the student body as are specializing in the field of the languages, philosophy, education, history, political science, and pure mathematics, and have distinguished themselves in that field.

Election to this society is the highest honor that is conferred upon the student in connection with university activities outside of the officially conferred honors of graduating cum laude or summa cum laude. All elections are by the faculty members of the Society.

Membership in the Society is of six classes:

1. Foundation members, who are members of the Fraternity of Phi Beta Kappa and of the faculty of the University.

2. Other members of the University faculty who have been elected because of their membership in the fraternity of Phi Beta Kappa, or in recognition of the fact that they have made valuable contributions to the advancement of liberal scholarship.

3. Undergraduate members who have been elected as of the Junior or Senior class of the year of election. A Junior, to be eligible, must be devoting the major part of his attention to the group of studies above named; must have completed at least forty units of residence at this University; and must have attained a grade of A in 85 per cent of his work in toto. No more than three Juniors can be elected in any one year. A Senior, to be eligible, must be specializing in the studies above named; must have completed at least forty units of work in residence at this University; and must have attained a grade of A in two-thirds of his work in toto. No more than one-tenth of the Seniors who satisfy the given conditions as to distribution of work may be elected in any one year.

4. Resident graduate students who have been elected as having made actual contributions of value to the advancement of liberal knowledge or thought.

5. Graduates of this University of the years preceding 1914, who have been elected under certain specified conditions.

6. Any persons distinguished in general productive scholarship who have been elected as honorary members.

Y. M. C. A. work started out many weeks prior to the opening of college this year preparing for the reception of new students and endeavoring to have plenty of jobs on hand. Over four hundred students were assisted in securing rooms and board. Jobs were secured for a great number of the men.

The "Y" hut at 3623 University Avenue, has been used far more this year than ever before. Typewriters, telephone service, mail service, board, room, an employment bureau, library, reading room, lounging room, piano, and book exchange are some of the things the "Y" has offered the men. The Y. M. C. A. has met a big need of the men in these features.

The Y. M. C. A. seeks to serve every man in any way possible, and give him all the encouragement to strive for and maintain the higher principles of Christian living. It seeks to foster a Christian spirit and a Great University life. It is back of every student activity and gives every ambitious man a medium through which he may serve his fellow students.

During the past year, the "Y" has secured as speakers such men as J. Stitt Wilson, Dr. Crane, Dr. Gleason, and many others.

The Episcopal Club of the University of Southern California was organized to further church work among university students. The club later became a unit in the national student council of the Episcopal Church.

The club is composed of all Episcopal students and members of the faculty who desire to affiliate with it. Various devotional meetings were held during the year. Among other activities the club presented a series of lectures during Lent by the Rev. Mr. Scoville, secretary for religious education of the diocese of Los Angeles.

AIM: The aim of J. O. C. is to reach every young woman in the University—also any girls not attending school but who are interested.

Mrs. Lena Leonard Fisher is the leader, and reaches the heart of every girl through practical lessons and problems which confront every girl.

FRIENDLY BUNCH

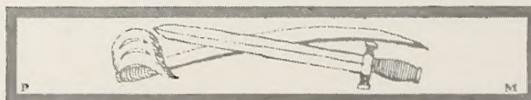

Founded 1917

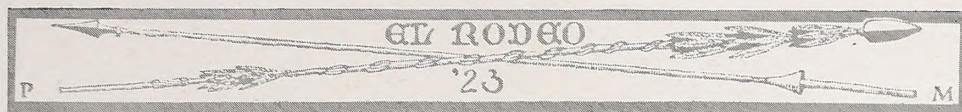

The Friendly Bunch is an organization of girls about the campus who make it their aim to create new friendships and to welcome all new girls upon entrance. It meets every two weeks at the supper hour.

All functions, suppers, entertainments and diversions are carried on by the whole group. There is no set form of leadership and each girl enters into the organization as an active member with the intention of making friends among her fellows.

This year the recognized leader of the organization is Ruth Moles.

All meetings are open and all new comers are heartily welcomed as well as those who have been on the campus previously.

PHILEAN LITERARY SOCIETY

For a number of years the University has felt the need of an organization which would unite in a common brotherhood the various nationalities coming to the campus. Such an organization has been founded the last semester of this year by Mrs. Ella McMath. It has been called the Philean Literary Society. This society rests upon a two-fold objective; first, that of fostering a spirit of brotherhood among the girls representing the various nationalities upon the campus; and second, that of developing literary ability in the members.

COLLEGE OF COMMERCE AND BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

The Director's Message

The College of Commerce and Business Administration has now completed the first two years of its career. And a healthy specimen for a two-year-old it is! The Director's Annual Report shows a total enrollment of 942, of Day and Evening Division students, or an increase of 62% over last year.

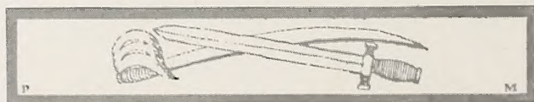

Our College has just been admitted to membership in the Association of Collegiate Schools of Business, now numbering twenty-four of the leading institutions of the country.

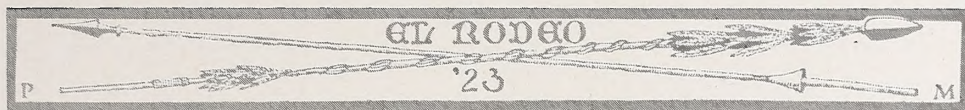

The upper classmen of today become the pioneers of tomorrow. In extending to the members of our first graduating class my sincere good wishes for highest success and largest usefulness, I take this opportunity to remind them that they occupy the enviable position of pace-makers and tradition-builders for all subsequent classes. Theirs has been the joy to blaze new trails. They are to be the honored custodians of the future. I would admonish each member of the Class of '22 to cherish Addison's words:

" 'Tis not in mortals to command success;
But we'll do more, Sempronius:
We'll deserve it."

—Rockwell D. Hunt.

The College of Commerce

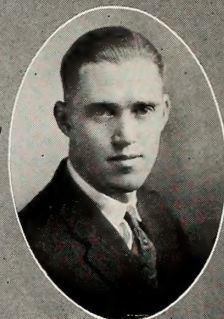

A mutual understanding between education and business is resulting in some far-reaching changes. Education has finally come to realize what the business world requires of its aspirant, newly come from the collegiate world. While on the part of business there is now an appreciation of the possibilities in college training in preparing one for a business career. The intricacy of modern business problems calls for a more comprehensive understanding of fundamental economic principles, which must be supplied by the higher institutions of learning. At the same time, business expects more of itself than formerly. It would prone be recognized as one of the professions. The development of a professional point of view will make of a man an intelligent entrepreneur rather than a mere spectator, a wide-visioned leader for the common good rather than a mere promoter of doubtful schemes, a generous producer of economic values rather than a mere acquisitive money-grabber.

The result of this understanding between education and business is that all large universities within the last few years have established colleges of business. Their growth in student enrollment since the World War has been phenomenal.

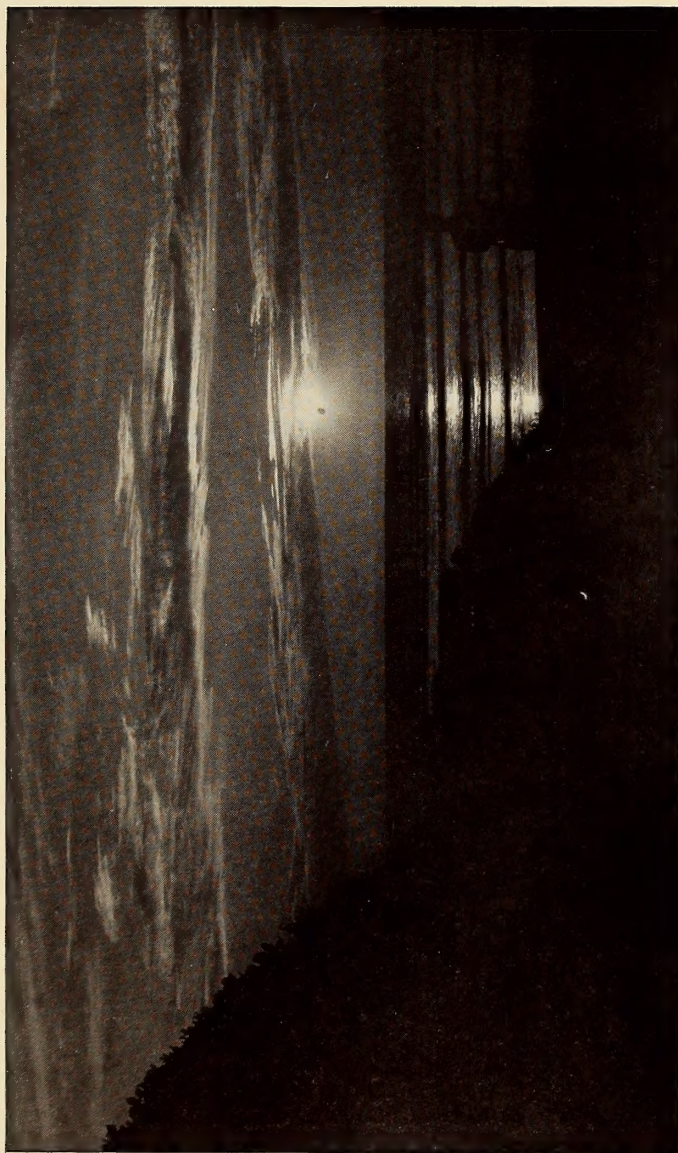

This new type of higher education for bigger business will go far toward banishing the economic illiteracy so prevalent in America today, and implanting in its stead constructive ideals for future business, by preparing worthy leaders who shall combine in themselves liberality of culture, thorough mastery of business technique, and great visions of social need.

It is the aim of the College of Commerce and Business Administration of the University of Southern California to give the young men and women who come to it the training which will make of them leading exemplars of the high professional spirit of business of the new day.

Although Los Angeles has been recognized as a center for dramatic productions for a long time, this is the first year that the step forward in this work has been regarded as a significant one.

Alive to the needs and demands of the present time, the College of Oratory has increased the amount of attention given to the development of this phase in its curriculum. To facilitate dramatic productions, the Dramatic Department has equipped its own little theatre in the Old College, and several highly commendable matinees were produced.

These matinees have come as the direct answer to the demands made by present conditions in Los Angeles. The whole University is backing up the new work of the College of Oratory because it supports what it believes to be a progressive step.

Once again our Alma Mater sends forth into the profession of Pharmacy a class of university trained men and women. We who are included are fortunate indeed. We have received the broad knowledge of the profession, realized the seriousness of our calling, and go forth equipped to render a sincere and valuable service to mankind. As we, in years to come, take our places in our respective communities let us not confine our thoughts only to the mercenary side of the profession. The twentieth century demands more, and let us prove more than equal to the occasion. We must have the welfare and happiness of our fellow beings at heart. We must grasp every opportunity to give a word of sympathy, a word of cheer and render acts of kindness, of helpfulness and service. It soon will become a second nature and we shall find ourselves gradually creeping into the hearts of those with whom we come in contact.

When we have received the friendship, the respect and love of those about us, then can we say we are on the road to real success.

BASEBALL

The series is not over for the Maas Cup, but every indication is in favor of the juniors due to the fact they have won the first and second games and have only one more to win, while the seniors have to win three straight to capture the cup.

The series this year has been extended to five games instead of three. As in the past, Professor Maas is the official umpire and Professor Blumenberg rules the bases.

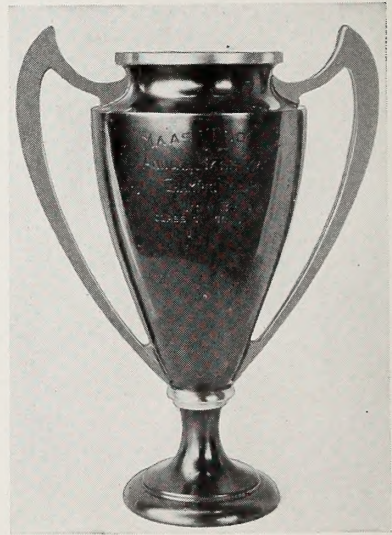

The weather for baseball has been very unfavorable, in fact if we wanted rain all we had to do was to decide to play ball.

At the first game all were amazed to see most of the players had regular baseball suits for the occasion. Rain stopped the game in the second inning.

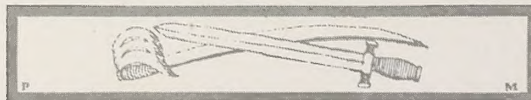

The second game was held the following Thursday with a large attendance. The seniors went down to defeat by a score of 10 to 3. The third game also went to the juniors with a score of 7 to 2.

Junior Team: Glassman, Rossiter, McKee, Moser, Cotting, Irwin, Coover, Smeltzer, Welin, Zugsworth, Irving.

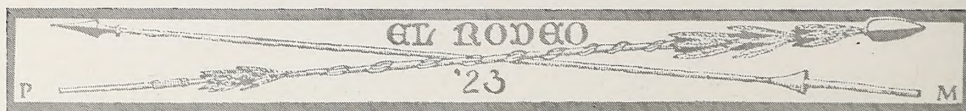

Senior Team: McClure, Boorey, Hollingsworth, Kilham, Probert, Purdue, Hall, Booring, Dahlquist, E. Olsen, Daniels, W. Olsen, and Filer.

FOOTBALL

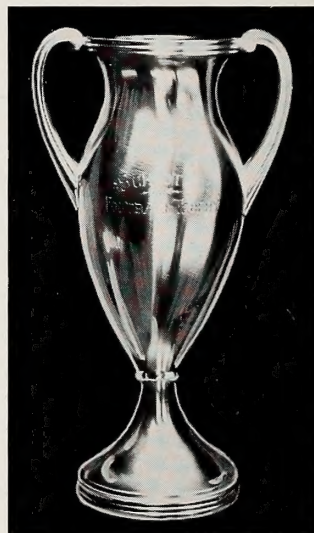

After many weeks of practice by both the senior and junior teams, the juniors decided the "Schlotte Cup" was theirs. Strange as it may seem, the seniors were expressing the same idea.

On the fatal day the whole college turned out to see the brawn on exhibit by the embryo pill rollers.

The juniors came so near winning that the seniors are mighty proud to have won the battle. The end runs made by Cotting during the first half had the juniors leading the seniors by a touchdown.

During the last part of the last quarter Boorey intercepted a forward pass, carrying the ball for a touchdown for the seniors and saving the day.

The playing this year was better football than in previous years. There were no fights and all the men looked the same after the game.

OUR WOMEN

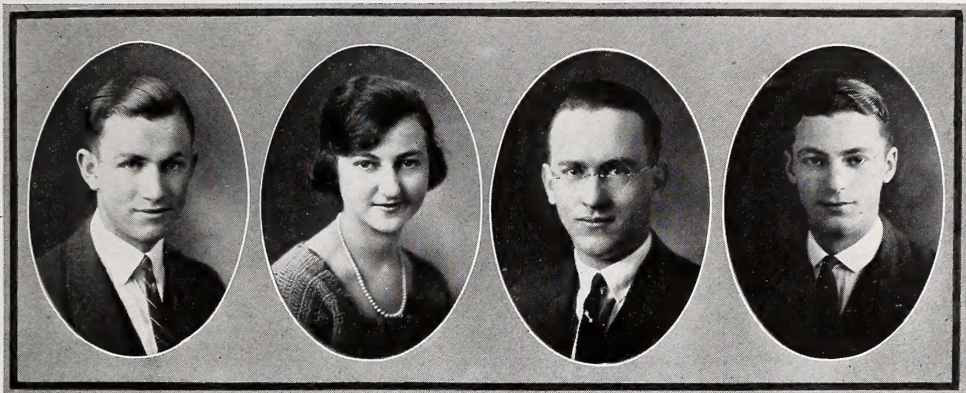

The Women's Athletic Association was founded last year with the purpose of developing the spirit of comradeship among the women. We have tried to carry out our aims by devoting all possible time to athletics and social gatherings.

This year we were very fortunate in having a very competent staff of officers. The officers are: Theresa Robinson, president; Elda Leipman, vice-president; and Gertrude Markley, secretary.

The "Kid Party" is the biggest event of the year and we are looking forward to a bigger time than last year, as many alumni have promised to be there.

We hope next year to have a large class of girls and have interclass games such as indoor baseball and basketball.

At the beginning of the school year temporary officers were elected to take charge until the students were better acquainted. Niles Peases and Miss Soloman were both elected to fill the respective offices of president and secretary. They were unanimously elected to fill the permanent offices when the election was held. Frank G. Hess was elected vice-president of the Pharmacy College Student Body.

The first affair given was the annual trip to Catalina, which took place on November 10th. To say that the affair was an immense success would be putting it mildly. The fishes were so glad to see the party that they followed the boats to and from the island and were liberally rewarded for their trouble. Many exquisite prizes were won by those who won first places in the athletic events. The seniors won the baseball game, not because of their playing ability but because they were better talkers. Wager, Hess and Brickly of the entertainment committee won most of the prizes by running the races off by themselves.

The first college dance, held at the Fowler Apartments, was a success from the first floor to the basement.

The night following "Senior Ditch Day" the juniors did a wonderful job decorating the Senior Chemistry Lab. The laboratory was so filled with "junk" that the seniors had to take an additional holiday.

THEOLOGY

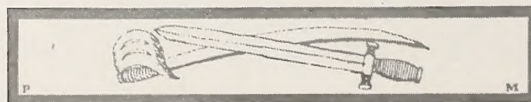

E·COLE

THE DEAN'S MESSAGE

The Church of Christ in the present period is undergoing unparalleled expansion as she adapts herself under her new idealism of world service to the opportunities and challenges which come to her. The number and variety of her workers have been greatly increased. The fully organized Church "staff" has become the standard. Maclay College of Theology is joined in a new organization in the University of Southern California of all departments providing training for religious service, under the title of the Maclay School of Religion. In the new order, improved facilities are provided for training men and women for all the many forms of religious service demanded by present developments, principal among them being the enlarged requirements and opportunities of the Christian Ministry. The courses lead to the degree of Bachelor of Divinity, and all who seek adequate training for this greatest of all callings are invited to avail themselves of them.

DEDICATION

With grateful hearts we dedicate this book to our efficient and skillful manager,
Mr. Arthur M. Perry—a man who has cooperated with the students and who has been a great factor in the success of the College of Music.

Dean Walter F. Skeele

President Harding's message to Congress is read by all serious-minded people in the land. The Dean's message in El Rodeo is probably read by very few, but who wants to be serious-minded when reading this gloom-dispelling publication? Having unburdened myself of some very profound and weighty advice in the messages of past years, I am going to let the gentle reader go unadvised at this time. "Only this and nothing more."

—W. F. Skeele.

Kollege Kalendar

A special function in the form of an evening lawn party was arranged September 8th at 8 o'clock at the College of Music for the purpose of acquainting old and new students. A program of interesting vocal and instrumental numbers was given. This was followed by an informal speech by Dean Skeele, warning new students of the dire calamities which befall those who overstudy. Our business manager, Mr. Perry, related the History of the College. A reception in the main hall acquainted the new students with the faculty.

Our student body president arranged an enjoyable dance for the students the evening of October 6th at the Kendis Apartments.

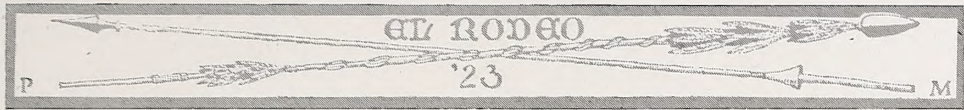

A program was given in the Annex the evening of November 9th. We were fortunate in having Mr. Behymer with us. He gave us a most inspiring talk—"Music of Today and Tomorrow." A student program, including the Girls' Ensemble and the Men's Glee Club, was concluded with refreshments.

February 23rd was a red-letter day for the College of Music. A reception was given in honor of the new President, Dr. von KleinSmid, from 4 to 6. After the reception in Dean Skeele's studio a short musical program was presented in the recital hall. Dr. von KleinSmid gave a short address. A new building for the College of Music was mentioned and greatly appreciated by every member of both faculty and student body.

Ten senior recitals marked the close of another successful school year from the College of Music.

This year marks the introduction of the "Sinfonia," the College of Music year book, which will appear annually.

THE ASSOCIATED STUDENT BODY

The present officers of the Student Body, with the exception of the Debating Manager, are creatures of the annual election at the close of the spring quarter in 1921, all the offices being elective save that of manager of debate, who is chosen by the three members of the oratorical committee.

FRANK P. LOCKETT
A. S. B. President

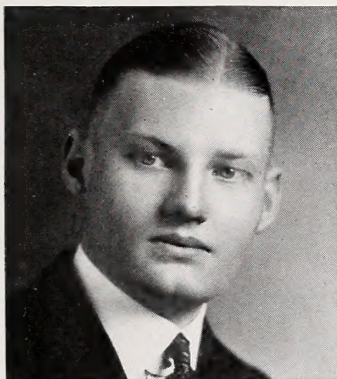

This year has brought forth practically no problems in the student control of the college, and President Lockett has been confronted with only the regular and traditional activities of the year.

At the beginning of the fall quarter, in the latter part of September, the three class elections were held. An unusually large vote was polled, in the Senior class over 120 voting.

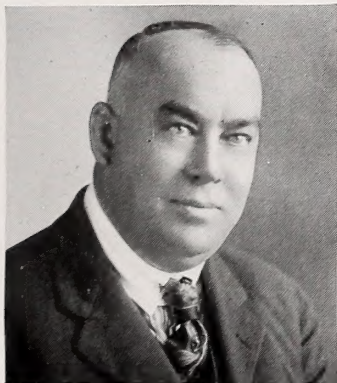

The main social event in the college year was the Freshman Banquet in the early part of 1922 after the opening of classes following the Christmas vacation. The arrangements for the entire affair were handled by Lockett, and Florence Bischoff, vice-president. The Hotel Maryland in Pasadena, scene of many previous banquets, was again chosen. President von KleinSmid was the speaker of the evening and spoke on the growth of the University and the College of Law. Dean Porter gave a short talk and confined his remarks to a history of the former Freshman banquets, how they had originated with the idea of one in honor of the graduating class at the close of the year and one for the Freshmen at the beginning. During the war this was cut to one, known as the Freshman Banquet, which custom has survived.

FLORENCE BISCHOFF

VICTOR E. KOCH

The traditional smoker was given at the Union League Club and the program took the form of everything from Russian dancing to the Freshman-Junior basketball game, with the Juniors carrying off the interclass championship.

SKULL AND SCALES

This year saw the revival of Skull and Scales, the Law Honor Society. This organization had its beginning in 1912 and was one of the most active and influential organizations in the college until the outbreak of the war. At this time there were none of the active members remaining and no new men were taken in until the present year's initiation.

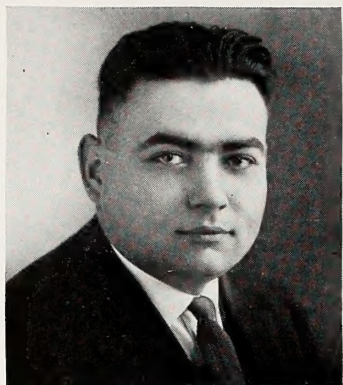

On Thursday evening, February 9, the formal initiation and banquet was held, and nine men prominent in the affairs of the Law School became the present active chapter. The membership is limited to thirteen, is not purely dependent on the holding of an office, and is conferred on those who have gained distinction in Law School and University activities.

The nine initiated were: James H. Smith, Eddy Leahy, Phil Farman, Edgar Hervey, Wilbur Curtis, Martin Shakley, Frank Lockett, Roland Maxwell and Harry P. Amstutz.

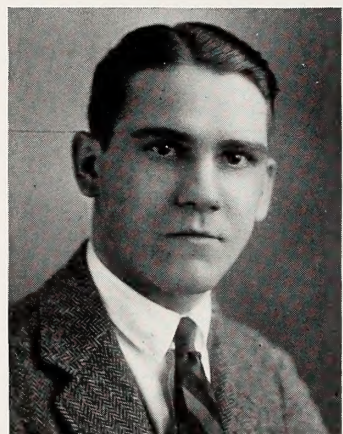

SOCIETAS SOCIATUS

The associated women students were especially active during the year, both in their own Law College affairs and in the University affairs, which they made a habit of attending in a body.

Florence Bischoff was chosen president of the organization and it was due to her efforts that such a close harmony of action was secured. In April a tea was given in honor of

GAIL B. SELIG

GEORGE DENNISON

LOUIS C. RUNGE

Mrs. von KleinSmid at the Harbor Apartments, taking the place of the usual monthly party and tea given by the women students.

A tennis club and a swimming club were formed early in the year which were well supported and weekly practice was held. On May 13 the tennis club entertained with a tea.

Dean Porter Honored

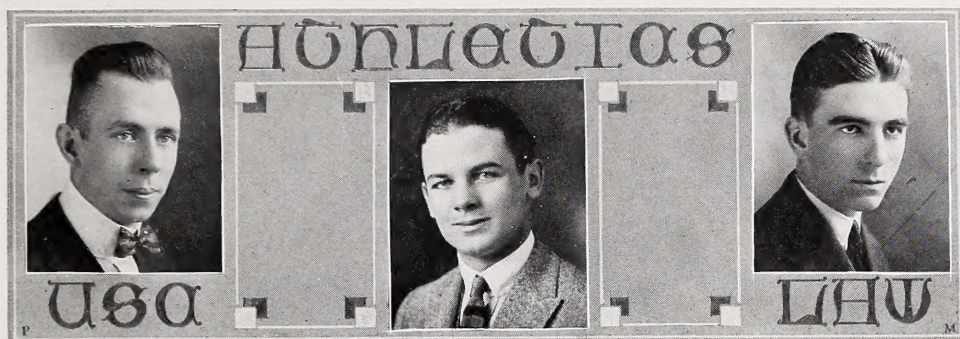

On Friday, April 28, President von KleinSmid formally took over his office as President of the University.

The ceremony was preceded by the academic procession from the Old College to the George Finley Bovard Administration Building in which the inauguration took place.

The academic procession was composed of all the visiting delegates from the Latin American countries, who were in attendance at the Pan-American Union held in conjunction with the inauguration, the delegates from all the foreign and American universities and colleges, the faculties of the colleges and the seniors from the different colleges of the University in the order of their founding.

At the conclusion of the President's inaugural address the impressive ceremony of the conferring of degrees took place.

Seven distinguished men received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws, and among them was Frank M. Porter, Dean of the College of Law. "For distinguished and faithful service as the guiding hand of the College of Law, in placing that institution upon the high plane which it now occupies, and for noted work as a legal educator."

ATHLETIC COMMITTEE

Thomas

Judson

Once again the University is able to chalk up a year of notable achievements in athletics, and Law School provided a particularly generous quota to accomplish this achievement.

From the successful start of the Football season by defeating Cal. Tech. 70 to 0 to its victorious finish against Washington State, Law's five veterans added a combined strength to the team which would be hard to overestimate. With Jimmy Smith, who was once again All-Southern end, and Andy Toolen holding down both ends of the line, few opponents managed to skirt the Trojan line to advantage. Frank Lockett was one of the main stays of the backfield which succeeded in going thru any kind of a line put before it and Eddy Leahy was always there with a burst of speed when a long dash around the opposing ends was needed. Logan Lindley again held down the difficult and gruelling position of guard with his twin brother from Liberal Arts on the other side of center.

Three Law men responded to the call of Coach Cromwell at the opening of the track season, Lloyd Rogers, Eddy Leahy and Bernie Herlihy. Rogers best appearance was in the Stanford meet in which he placed first in the low hurdles and repeated in the broad jump. Herlihy's main event is the mile. This is Leahy's second year as one of the mainstays of the relay team. Herlihy is the regular first baseman on the varsity for his second year and in the League games to date has not had an error against him, is hitting with his last season's accuracy and stole the first base of the season. Gus Covillo was the 158 pound representative on the Varsity Boxing Team.

At the University Student Body election Leahy was chosen as Athletic Manager of the University, the first time a law man has filled this position.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL TEAM

Of most particular importance in athletics to Law itself was the revival this year of interclass competition at the College. The Law Student Body can always be counted on to contribute heavily to the University athletic teams, but interclass sports had lapsed in the past few years and it was with especial interest that they were taken up.

They started with an inter-class basket ball series between the Junior and Freshman Classes. The Juniors finally succeeded in demonstrating their superiority by defeating the Freshmen 16 to 13 in the last two games. Captain Miller was the outstanding star of the Frosh and covered the floor well in almost any position. Captain Thomas of the Juniors was the high point man of both teams and Harvey at Forward and Seymour at guard played good both on offense and defense.

Thomas, the athletic manager, has completed arrangements for an open tennis tournament in both singles and doubles and for an open golf tournament.

The first event to call out the Law School debaters was the Bowen Cup Contest, held last November in Bovard Auditorium. Contrary to the usual custom of the Law Squad it did not succeed in carrying away a majority of the trophies. With a good representation in the preliminaries the Law men made a good start, but in the finals, carried away only two of the coveted honors. Harry Amstutz, tied with Merle McGinnis, A. S. B. president, for second place and Melvin Flaherty walked away with the other cup.

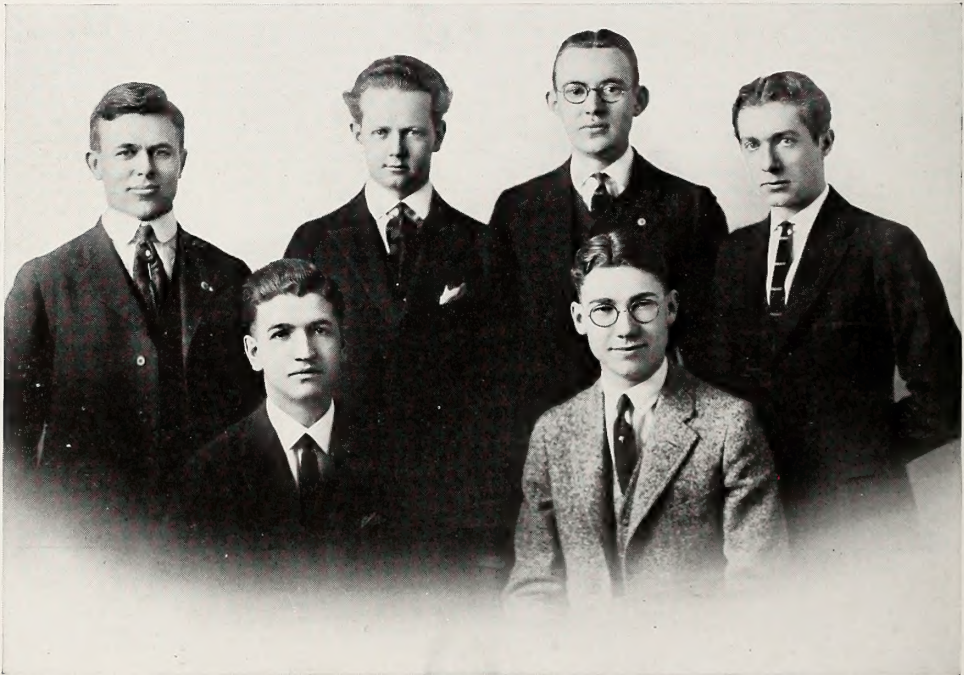

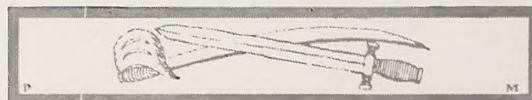

The general subject for the contest was, Disarmament, and the specific subject announced two hours before the contest was, A limitation of all naval armament for a period of twenty-five years. The judges were, Prof. Fisher, Harold Stonier, and Prof. Malcolm; Anthony F. Blanks was the presiding officer.

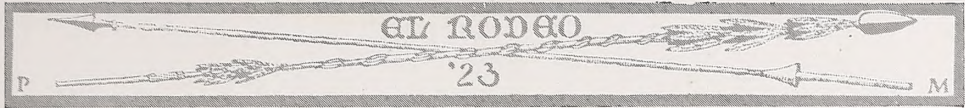

Roland Maxwell, Law Senior, was chosen debating manager of the University at the elections in June and was chosen with McGinnis to make a tour of the Middle West which resulted in a great majority of victories for the U. S. C. team. D'Elia was on the University team which met California Tech.

Contrary to years past Law School has no regular debate coach, but worked in conjunction with Alan Nichols the University coach, and Miss Gertrude Comstock, forensics instructor at the College of Law. Being able to secure the services of such two highly competent instructors the absence of a regular Law coach was not felt as much as was expected to be the case.

As an added stimulus to competition among the squad, Curtis revived the custom of awarding trophies to the debaters.

The members of the oratorical committee chosen to guide the activities of the year were: Harry Amstutz, Senior; Warner Praul, Junior, and Louis D'Elia, Freshman.

Wilbur Curtis, due to the fact that his election to the office came rather late in the season, as Manager of Debate, had no little difficulty in scheduling debates with the different colleges that have usually been on the Law School's debating program.

In view of this fact, an amendment to the student body will be proposed at the June elections, providing for the election of debating manager along with the rest of the student body officers, and eliminating the old system of waiting until the Oratorical Committee is chosen in the fall and having them choose him.

Arizona Debate

On April sixth, the Law team met and defeated the University of Arizona at Tucson, on the subject, Resolved: That a Court of Industrial Relations for the judicial settlement of capital-labor disputes, should be established by the several states.

This contest has grown to be an annual contest between the schools. Last year the two teams met in the U. S. C. Auditorium and the Law team composed of Maxwell, Curtis and Amstutz won a unanimous decision over the Arizona debaters.

After the season of preliminary tryouts, Richard Bird, Roy Reames and Harry Amstutz were chosen to make the trip.

Bird debated against Occidental last year; Amstutz was on the team which defeated Pomona and Arizona last year and is a member of Delta Sigma Rho as is Reames, who has a victory over Stanford to his credit.

This debate is considered by Arizona to be its biggest forensic contest of the year and due to the advance publicity the Arizona Auditorium was filled to capacity. The debate was hotly contested and it was not until the rebuttal speeches that the Law men really were certain of their victory. Arizona's representatives were, Clyde Seamig, William Palmer and Leslie Orme. Dr. Robt. M. Davis, Arizona Dean of Men, acted as chairman.

On the way home to California the squad ran into a severe thunder storm on the desert south of Palm Springs, which Reames and Amstutz declare made a noise more like Bird's argument than anything they had ever heard.

DRAMATICS

The past year has been a most fortunate one in dramatics for the University, both as to the extensive program laid out and the successful production of the plays themselves. Plays only of a high calibre were presented and with excellent success, the result being a demand for such plays rather than for those of a lighter nature.

The moving spirit in the presentation of the plays and in the management of the University program was Joe Ryan, a Law Senior. Ryan was elected president of Lance and Lute and was chosen as manager of the "Thirteen Events," the largest dramatic program ever undertaken by the University. He produced the "Great Galeoto," managed the Senior Road Show and played the lead in "The Honorable Togo" and "Poor Old Jim."

C. Ray Noll, a first year man at law, was the most valuable find of the dramatic year.

PUBLICATIONS

Kemp Looking for News

The annual publication of the College, the "Stare Decisis," is the only separate publication edited by the students as an activity apart from the University publications.

At the Student Body elections before the 1921 Commencement Philip C. Farman and Ben S. Beery were chosen as Editor and Manager of the book. L. E. Thomas, Joe Ryan, George W. Kemp, Harry Amstutz and H. Aubrey Miller composed the Editorial Staff. Beery chose as his assistant Jefferson K. Stickney.

Law School was represented on the "Trojan" this year by George W. Kemp as Law Editor and Phil Farman.

NON COMPIS MENTIS

When Dad Carl heard that the seniors in the academic procession at the Inaugural were going to march in the order of their founding, he claimed that that being the case he rated the position at the head of the Law cap and gowners, as he was founded before any of the rest of them. It took Ryan, Amstutz and Moroney, talking three abreast, to explain to him that he had things all wrong.

SOB SISTERS REGISTER COMPLAINT

The Societas Sociatus, S. S., Steam Ship, Cause of a Thousand Wonders, complained to the Stare Decisis that last year this venerable and well-meaning publication had unwittingly and unfeelingly referred to them as "All the old scrub women around the Tajo Building," and they wish us to call attention to the fact that this is not the case at all and to point out to the men students that all the old scrub women seen around the Tajo Campus are not members of Scrub Sisters (beg pardon!—Societas Sociatus), but that there is an employment office near the campus.

We certainly agree with Societas that this was a most unkind and uncalled for cut and we wish to take this opportunity to point out to the men students that "all the old scrub women seen around the campus" are not members of the S. S., but that there is an employment office near the campus. So for heaven's sake, fellows, don't get our co-eds mixed up.

STARE DECISIS FRAT DIRECTORY

DELTA CHI

Name—Delta Chi is Hungarian for "We think we're good."

Purpose—To look important.

Pin—An uncouth piece of hardware that would make a good button on a back gate.

Founded—The year of the big wind.

Contains more brothers that can talk and say less and ask more foolish questions and mean nothing than any other small-town club.

Motto—"Don't we think we're cute?"

DELTA THETA PHI

Name—Delta Theta Phi is the Spanish for "Where can I get a drink?"

Purpose—To fool the freshman.

Pin—A lopsided wart with a black spot in the middle. Resembles an enlarged flyspeck on a gumdrop.

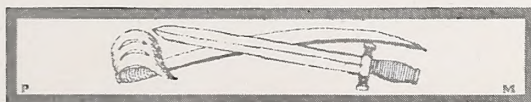

Founded—Later than they say.

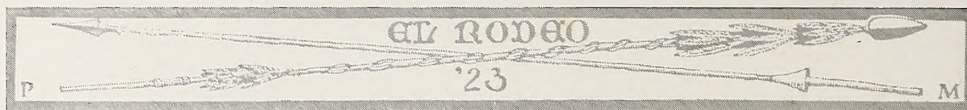

Their chief business is the establishment of a phantom pedigree. Their name is expressed most frequently in their daily conversation and the goodly number of followers are true to the fair name.

Motto—Down with whisky.

PHI DELTA PHI

Name—Phi Delta Phi is Greek for "Bull."

Purpose—Same thing.

Founded—At the county jail to get revenge on all law students.

Pin—Two pretzels wound around a broomstick.

The brothers spend most of their time and energy in the accumulation of worthless political offices, and then not knowing what to do with them. They have more different kinds of presidents than Mexico.

Motto—New and second hand votes bought, sold and exchanged.

SIGMA NU PHI

Name—Sima Nu Phi.

Purpose—Nobody knows.

Founded—When the board of control was away.

Pin—Sour owl seated on top of an Ingersoll Radiolite.

An uncouth and motley following grabbed off at the beginning of each school year before either Sigma Nu Phi or the new men know any better.

Motto—We're pretty good for a night school club.

PHI ALPHA DELTA

Name—Phi Alpha Delta is Scandinavian for Lounge Lizard.

Purpose—To give the rest of the school something to laugh at.

Founded—At Vassar.

Pin—Resembles a lopsided caramel stuck on the back of a 10-cent piece.

Contains a unique and original selection of rah, rah boys with long, slimy hair combs, fond of craps and fancy dancers.

Motto—"We WILL be a fraternity."

GAMMA ETA GAMMA

Name—Gamma Eta Gamma is Irish for "Look what the wind blew in."

Purpose—To provide a good club for all the leftovers.

Founded—All of a sudden.

Pin—Looks like the reflection of a policeman's badge in a mud puddle.

Appeared all of a sudden out of otherwise peaceful sky, and by doing so ruined a perfectly good locale.

Motto—If he can pay his dues, pledge him.

PHI DELTA DELTA

Name—Phi Delta Delta is Aglo-Saxon for "A dream of fair women."

Purpose—To exist until next year in hopes the dream will come true.

Founded—When co-eds used to attend law school.

Pin—Broken reading lamp entwined around a piece of charcoal.

They are very exclusive and initiate only two women each year. Some say this is partly due to the fact that they can't find any more, but we don't like to believe this.

Motto—In numbers there is strength."

New Building is Dedicated to Service

Majestic in size and simplicity, harmonious in every detail, and useful and beautiful throughout, the new Administration Building of the University stands out as one of the great achievements of U. S. C. for the past two years. It emphasizes the fact that the University is continually shoving to the front, seeking new fields of work, and determined to be ready for any task.

During the past year the classrooms have been dedicated to the service of knowledge and pronounced fitted for their work. More than any one thing, perhaps, the auditorium is destined to serve the true Cardinal and Gold spirit of the University of Southern California.

This great meeting place provides a gathering ground for the entire student body, fostering the spirit of unity; it builds up tradition, through its special seating arrangement, by honoring the upper classmen; and it strengthens the spirit of U. S. C. simply by existing—an auditorium to which any college might well point with pride.

Every Trojan takes pride in the scholastic accomplishments and the athletic prowess of the University. Let each one, too, take pride in the new building with its complete equipment and its new auditorium.

Prof. Marston: "That's the third time you've looked on Rogers' paper, Harold."

John LL.: "Yes sir, he doesn't write very plainly."

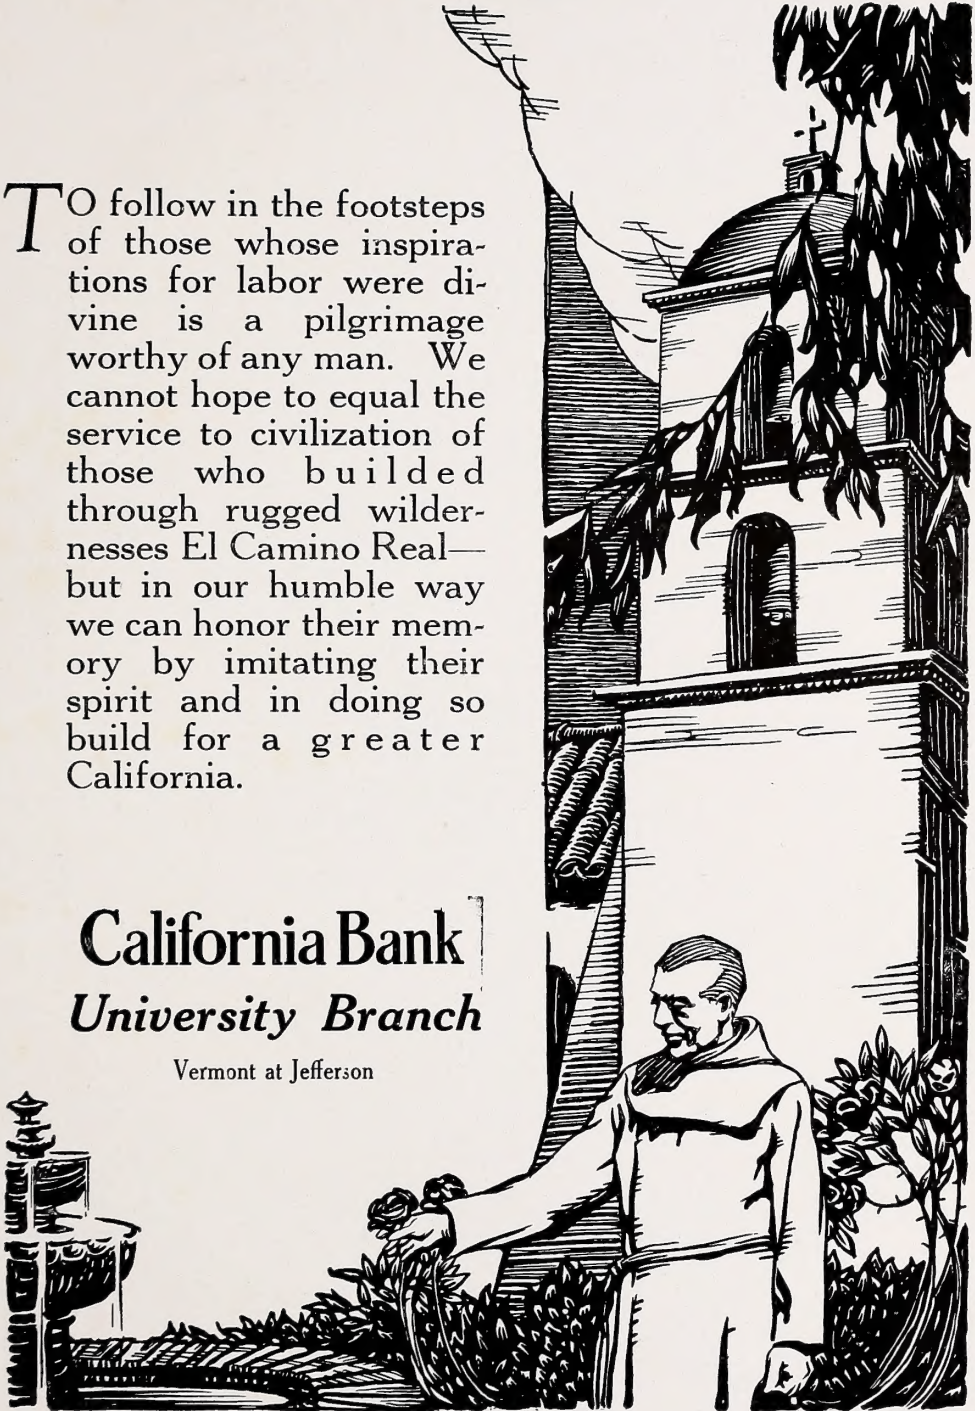

Phil: "Last night I dreamed that I asked the most beautiful girl in the world to marry me."

Marie: "Oh Phil, what did I say?"—
Octopus.

TO follow in the footsteps of those whose inspirations for labor were divine is a pilgrimage worthy of any man. We cannot hope to equal the service to civilization of those who builded through rugged wildernesses El Camino Real—but in our humble way we can honor their memory by imitating their spirit and in doing so build for a greater California.

Dr. Bovard Lives at Hermosa Beach

Dr. George F. Bovard, president emeritus, has been living at Hermosa Beach since poor health forced him to resign from the presidency. He and Mrs. Bovard spent several months in San Diego following his decision to quit active participation in university work, although he expresses as great an interest in this institution's affairs as before.

Dr. Bovard was beloved by the students because he was always one of them and partook of University activities to his utmost ability, maintaining, however, an executive's control over the University. The students regret that he is unable to be with them in their daily work, but are confident that his spirit of progressiveness and fair dealing will follow them through life.

Gaws Write a Popular Play

Among the worth-while dramatic attractions for 1922-1923 will be "Pharoah's Daughter," a biblical play written by Dr. and Mrs. Allison Gaw, with Margaret Anglin in the star role.

Dr. Gaw is head of the department of English at U. S. C., and also one of the directors of the Drama League of America. He is one of the established authorities on American drama. In a city famous for its theatrical people, this faculty member stands pre-eminently in the foreground.

This collaboration of the Gaws was completed about a year ago, receiving favorable comment from the press. The Pasadena Community Players were exceedingly anxious to produce the play during the summer season.

Yale Chartered for Trip North

For the first time in the history of the University, enough students attended the annual football classic between the Trojans and Bears, held at Berkeley, to justify chartering the Yale. The forty-piece band, together with over 300 students, slumbered on the peaceful waters of the Pacific while being propelled onward to see "the game of their young lives" played at Berkeley, November 5, 1921.

Twice the number of students, with their friends, went via automobile and train than traveled on the steamer, so that U. S. C. had a representation of about 1,000 to root for the boys when they chased the pigskin around the field.

The Berkeley contest was the first game at which the Cardinal and Gold megaphones were distributed to the men. The resultant volume of enthusiasm which found an outlet in unified cheering completely astounded the California fans, for they could not fathom the idea that U. S. C. rooters numbering 1,000 could drown the yells of a much larger section.

Faculty Desert Classes for a Happy Vacation

Far from books, assignments, collateral reading cards and co-eds, each Trojan professor amused himself at his own sweet will during vacation.

Among those who journeyed afar are Prof. Roy T. Thompson, who went to England; Prof. Katherine Forrester, who spent the entire summer in Mexico, and Prof. Lawrence Lowrey, who conducted a European trip.

Mr. Curtis Huse spent a week in San Francisco, while Prof. Roy Schultz also visited the northern city.

Prof. James Dixon visited Berkeley, where he spent most of his time with John Fryer, head of the Oriental Language Department at California. Prof. Fryer returned to Los Angeles with Prof. Dixon and visited U. S. C. He decided that one obtains a better view from the tower of the U. S. C. Administration Building than from the famous Campanille at California.

Lake Tahoe and Yosemite attracted Prof. Della Early, Prof. Loren T. Clark, and Prof. and Mrs. Hugh Lowther. Prof. Clarence Gilliland heartily enjoyed his vacation in the high Sierras.

Prof. Louis Wann and Prof. Ralph Flewelling built themselves a cabin way up in the West Fork region, back of Mount Wilson. They spent three weeks in the mountains.

"I went to Stanford to do some research work concerning medieval interpretation of the attitude toward classical mythology found especially in the middle English writers," stated Prof. John Cooke.

Dr. Herbert Austin made a trip East, while Dr. Allison Gaw moved books around all vacation.

"I wish it known," said Prof. Lynn Clark, "that I caught the record trout, 15 inches long, at Mammoth Lake. And at Catalina I swam one mile."

An unusually large number of the students enrolled in the College of Commerce and Business Administration are from other institutions, with most of the transfers coming from the following universities: Wisconsin, Oklahoma, Nebraska, Montana, Pennsylvania, Minnesota, Chicago, Stanford, Southwestern, Northwestern, Creighton, De Pauw, Western Reserve, Temple, Purdue, Missouri, California, Michigan, Arizona, Illinois; and the following colleges: Kansas State, Cornell, Yale, Dartmouth, Iowa, St. Olaf's, Lafayette, Occidental, Morningside, Tufts, and Carleton. In addition to the American colleges and universities, a number of the European countries are represented, besides many of the junior colleges and normal schools in the United States.

To S. C.'s Pride The Co-eds, Blessum

Every year the influx of athletes at U. S. C. makes the coaches forget their worries temporarily in the expectations of the athletic future of the University.

And also every year the influx of co-eds, familiar and soon to be so, makes the male population of the campus colleges forget their worries in the joy of making their choice—like the small boy in front of the candy store window.

Without this element of college life, U. S. C. would be a sadder place to live in. With the co-eds, excitement, pleasure, variety, and sometimes more serious feelings have an existence otherwise impossible. They put life in Trojan parties, energy in Trojan classrooms, music in Trojan songs, and ambition in Trojan men.—Trojan editorial.

P. D. D. PLEDGES TWO

Phi Delta Delta has literally been scattering sorority pins around the campus this year. So many good-looking dames appeared that the sisters fell all over each other giving the rushees a good time. All we can say is that there would be a hot time if Phi Delta Delta had a rival.

Milliner: "Madam, that white feather on your hat makes you look five years younger."

Ambitious Teacher: "Ahem! You can put two on it then, please."

OUR VIEWPOINT

[Excerpt from article appearing in Journal of Industrial and Engineering Chemistry, March 1922]

"In a time of actual need, a large group of scientists, industrialists, and even government officials insisted that Americans must establish a domestic laboratory apparatus and supply industry, advised that investments necessary for development be made, and assured each other that not only did they desire to make America reasonably independent in essentials, but that they were determined never again to be left without an American source of apparatus.

"Educational institutions (which buy about 70% of the apparatus used and are alone able to purchase standard items in quantity) are tempted to place abroad the quantity orders which would enable any American manufacturer to reduce his costs. Quality is no longer debated, for America has made good. It is merely a matter of price, in which American costs, always higher than European costs, are still further boosted by the exchange situation.

"American colleges depend for support on American industries. If the policy of importation of apparatus were followed to a logical conclusion few domestic industries could grow to philanthropic proportions. We often wonder how a college trustee or university regent can clamor for a protective tariff for his business interests and yet sanction wholesale importation of supplies for the school he helps govern. We urge the abandonment of any purchasing policy which seems so certain to kill our apparatus and chemical industry, founded at such cost, and which is equally certain to weaken our established dealers. There are those ready to spend large sums to improve their product. Competition is sufficiently keen to assure fair dealing, reasonable prices, and real service. Why are so many willing to give up the well-tried principle of the square deal?"

Mrs. Willebrandt Breaks Precedent

Mrs. Mabel W. Willebrandt holds the responsible position of Assistant Attorney General of the United States, with offices in Washington, D. C. But recently she appeared before the United States Supreme Court, on behalf of the Government, in an action involving some forty-five millions of dollars! This constitutes the first time in the history of this country that a woman has represented the Government in so important an undertaking. That she did her work well is undoubted.

Mrs. Willebrandt is capable and well learned in the law. She gained her legal education with the class of '16. For some time she was engaged in the practice of law before the local State and Federal courts, besides holding certain public offices. When the opportunity came to take the high position she now holds, it found her well prepared.

AN APPRECIATION

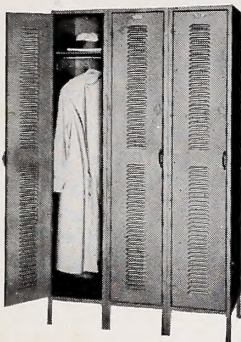

FOR many years we have watched with pride the steady growth and development of the University of Southern California as a great institution of learning, recognized among the educators of America for its high standards of scholarship and among citizens of Los Angeles for its contribution to the cultural life of the community.

We appreciate the opportunity we have had to grow with this splendid institution and to serve its members with the same ideals in business as the University has upheld in the world of higher education.

A Friend

Hon. F. W. Houser

Giver of Impetus

The College of Law owes its existence chiefly to the unbounded optimism, initiative and determination of a few students of a bygone decade who were compelled to procure their knowledge of the law from private mentors, and who were not surrounded with the facilities which we of today consider as commonplaces. The desire of those few students to provide a more systematic method for the pursuit of legal learning gave the present college its first impetus. One of those students was Frederick W. Houser, than whom none possessed greater enthusiasm and initiative.

After organizing the first School of Law, Judge Houser completed his legal studies therein, graduating in 1900. He engaged in practice for a time, but politics beckoned him, and the people approved, so that he journeyed to Sacramento in the capacity of Assemblyman. It is this experience that has enabled the judge to remark, when searching for the Legislature's intention, that no Legislature ever possessed an intention.

After returning from Sacramento he again entered the practice of law, but not for long was he allowed to remain so occupied, for shortly thereafter he became a member of the Superior Court of Los Angeles County. There he now has the somewhat doubtful pleasure of providing havens of refuge for the weary in the peaceful solitude of San Quentin.

Kindly, courteous and pleasant, Judge Houser easily earns the good will of all with whom he comes in contact, yet stern and unbending in matters of ethics, both professional and social, he instills respect for the law in those who transgress its edicts.

L. Husar Gets Post in China

Very recently the United States Senate approved the appointment by President Harding of Leonard Husar to the post of United States District Attorney in Shanghai, China. Very few people are aware of the fact that the United States has a district court in China, although this court handles many cases of great importance in both municipal and international law.

Leonard Husar graduated from College of Law in 1916 and had for some years prior to this appointment been busily engaged as Deputy City Prosecutor of the city of Los Angeles. Mr. Husar may be depended upon to carry the fame of U. S. C. with him to the land of the Orient.

Remember How Not To Forget

"Mr. Addison Sims of Seattle, I met you at the Lumbermen's convention at Willie back in February, 1897."

This was recently the reply of Professor Shultz to the inquiry of a stranger who accosted him on the University campus. Professor Shultz is known the nation over for his million-dollar memory, and the Shultz system is being constantly used by successful statesmen, business men and students. His memory course is especially effective for students of Spanish.

"Gloomy Gus" Has Enviably Record

Coaching four years in Broadway High School, Seattle, Wash., during which time his championship teams lost but one game, rolling up a total of 568 points to their opponents' 56; turning out a team at U. S. C. in 1920 which came through the whole season without a single defeat, and molding the second place holders of the Pacific Coast Conference, losing only to California, the greatest team in the world last season, is the enviable football record of Coach Elmer C. Henderson, known to the sporting world as "Gloomy Gus."

Coach Henderson's teams have always played a consistent game, showing a thorough knowledge of modern football, both in offensive and defensive. His great victories over Stanford, Oregon, and Washington marked him as a football genius of rare ability.

Henderson not only excels in being able to "pound" football easily and painlessly into the heads of his teams, but he fires the fighting spirit into his men which is necessary to the greatest of football machines.

It is due to Coach Henderson that U. S. C. is the recognized contender for the highest football honors in the country. He has signed a six-year contract to coach the Trojan elevens, and it is certain that still higher honors are in store for him and S. C.'s football teams.

All that has been tried and all that has been accomplished by the Trojan Varsity sprang from the mind of the Trojan football genius. And it follows that S. C. students, the team, and all those who have followed the season's games accredit much of the unusual success of the year to the loyal endeavor of "Gloomy Gus."

A House and a Football Team

It is the A B C of football that it takes eleven good players to make a first class football team. Ten good ones and a dumbbell won't do.

Exactly the same principle holds true in building. It takes a certain number of high grade materials to build a first class house. Excellent quality in all but one is just one step short of thoroughness—and can easily be a fatal step.

Ray Manwell Gets Political Honors

Not all of our graduates remain within our county, for men from all parts of the state and nation come here to acquire the fundamentals of the law, and after having once gained those fundamentals they frequently go elsewhere to seek their laurels. One of these latter, Ray Manwell, completed his course in '14 and then went north to Yuba County.

Up there he engaged in active practice until a few years ago when he became District Attorney of Yuba County. The duties of a district attorney are not such as to inculcate an abundance of love in the hearts of a county's lesser members, and from all reports Ray Manwell is making no attempt to reverse precedent. He has proved himself a force to be reckoned with, and criminals are assured of a warm reception at the hands of Yuba County's District Attorney whenever they so far forget themselves as to operate within the confines of that prosperous subdivision of the state. Yet, despite his record for convictions, Manwell believes in tempering justice with mercy when that is proper, and the unfortunate victim of circumstances receives the benefit of every doubt.

Yuba County is fortunate in having such a man at the head of its legal department, and we are fortunate in having such an alumnus.

REMEMBER, YOUNG MAN!

Business friendships of long standing are among the richest sources of success. Fortunate is the man who early chooses a banking institution adequate in strength and constructive in principle and "grows up" with that bank.

You are approaching the beginning of your business career. The decisions you make now are full of importance for the future. Before you settle definitely upon a banking connection, consider the advantage which will come to you from an association with the "Citizen's National."

This bank prides itself upon its long record of conscientious personal service and that record is your assurance of the value of the business friendship which you should start building with this institution today.

A BIG REWARD is offered to the man who learns to sell.

Anyone can be a peddler, but the men who learn to create desire for the worth-while things of life occupy high places in the modern business world.

Life insurance sales continue to increase every year whether business conditions are good, bad or indifferent,—yet life insurance must be sold. The opportunity for educated men of good character and ambition to achieve success in life insurance salesmanship was never so great as now. Fifty of our representatives in California alone earned commissions during 1921 of $5,000 to $25,000.

The Pacific Mutual Life maintains a School for Salesmen and furnishes free a series of lessons in two sections. The First Section is a condensed 10-day course, designed to put in your hands the necessary information to enable you to make immediate sales. The Second Section requires two months to complete. You may earn while you learn. More than half of our leading producers are graduates of our School for Salesmen.

We will send you a prospectus if you request it.

Parlor Football Is Now Popular As Major Course

U. S. C. devotees of parlor football met in the zoological laboratory in the Old College last month for their spring training. The organization was but recently organized. Professor Stonier was unanimously elected coach by acclamation. Gwynn Wilson, the popular new graduate manager, was chosen as assistant. "Swede" Evans ran Sir Charles Paddock a close race for captain. "Swede's" getaway was better than Charley's, but Charley's pick-up on the home stretch proved superior. The newly elected captain is without doubt the fastest man on the squad.

Parlor football, it might be explained, is the indoor sport par excellence. After Lindley Bothwell returned from a date with a well-known co-ed, Miss Ohow I. Lovett, he is said to have remarked to one of his cronies:

Men vs. Women

"Do you see that chalk on my shoulder? Well, that's not chalk!"

Mr. Bothwell had evidently made a touchback and fallen on a line.

The happy part of this new sport is the fact that it may be participated in by both sexes. Miss Cora Baker, captain of the girls' team, is said to have one of the best lines in the country, not even excluding the Mason-Dixon line. Misses Mildred Heinze, Gladys Farrar, Grace Althoff, Monna Bethune and many others are also said to play a stellar game in the line.

Coach Stonier, together with his assistant, Gwynn Wilson, will give both teams thorough training. They are now compiling a set of signals which will soon be given out. The coach is in excellent spirits over the outcome of the season. He is now giving the following courses, required as prerequisite to membership on the parlor football squads:

Advanced Courses

1. Proper use of the Morris chair, divan. Position of arms and shoulders. Laboratory work. Two hours.

2. Line drill. Rouge, advantages and disadvantages. Applied spooning, with emphasis on soul kiss. Three hours.

3. Etiquette in conservatory. How to ask and how to say "No" with pucked lips. How to help a stuttering person. One hour at intervals. Dance music in connection.

Prof. Emory Olsen, Carl Farman, John Robinson and Fred Hinrichs have signified their intention of taking the first course. The second and third courses are for girls and it is expected that every girl in the University will register for the courses. Warren Bovard, Murray Heichert, "Cap" Rogers, and John Leadingham were among the first to enroll when the classes started and so are advanced students. Coach Stonier and his assistant, Gwynn Wilson, are now busy preparing an advanced course for these students.

Hon. G. W. Craig Is Part of Law

To mention the College of Law without in some way referring to Judge Craig would be an impossibility. He is so intimately bound up with its history and growth that he has become a very part of the institution's identity.

Back in the days when automobiles were regarded with awe and suspicion by an unsophisticated populace, Judge Craig received his diploma from the College of Law. The year, to be exact, was 1901. Thereupon he entered the practice of his profession in this city. His numerous friends felt, however, that Attorney Craig possessed capabilities too great to be hidden within the confines of a private office. They therefore elected him to the Superior Court of this county. Here for many years he held forth until he felt the urge for higher things.

Spurred on by the desires of his friends he entered the race for the position of Associate Justice of the District Court of Appeals. The result of that election was never in doubt for an instant. In fact, he received as many votes as any other two candidates.

During all these years the judge has found time to meet classes in a number of different subjects at the College of Law, and while his methods are “different,” one must admit that they are effective.

“I can’t find any old cloths for my scarecrow,” said the farmer.

“Use some of the fancy things the boy brought home from college,” replied his wife.

“I’m trying to scare crows, not make them laugh.”

ALMA MATER

By John Oliver Wilson, '08

'Mid storied lands our college stands,
 'Mid scenes oft traced in dreaming,
 Where golden sands with golden fruit
 And golden grain are teeming,
 But ne'er a spot though seeming fair,
 On mountain, shore or lea,
 In keeping has such memories as
 The halls of U. S. C.

We dwell 'neath ever sunny skies,
 'Mid flowers ever springing,
 Where pleasing verdure never dies,
 And birds are always singing.
 'Mid whispers of eternal seas
 That ever shall endure—
 Oh, U. S. C., our love for thee
 Unchanging is and sure.

Oh, dear old school, thy classrooms are
 To us new worlds revealing;
 Thy rallying times have sent new life
 Into our being stealing;
 Thy ties have bound us each to each,
 And brightened all our days,
 And life means more, a boundless store,
 Since we have trod thy ways.

And when the restless, hopeful years
 To other scenes shall woo us,
 And joys and struggles of these days
 Are but a memory to us,
 Amid life's disappointing cares
 Our hearts will turn to thee,
 And for thy sake fresh courage take,
 Our own dear U. S. C.
